U.N. Censure For Israelis Is Expected

Argentina's Stand In Eichmann Case Debated by Council

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Diplomats generally predicted today that the U.N. Security Council would approve an Argentine resolution censuring Israel for the secret removal of Adolf Eichmann from Argentina.

A vote on the resolution was expected this afternoon or Friday. Some sources anticipated unanimous approval; others thought several nations might abstain.

The resolution charges Israel with violating Argentine sovereignty and calls on the Israelis to make "adequate reparation." But Premier David Ben-Gurion already has said emphatically the Nazi war criminal accused of major responsibility for the extermination of six million Jews would not be returned to Buenos Aires, as Argentina demanded earlier.

Israeli Foreign Minister Golda Meir, speaking in the council debate Wednesday, admitted Eichmann had been removed from Argentina illegally and expressed her government's regret. She said that constituted "adequate reparation" to Argentina.

A diplomat familiar with Argentina's position said the Buenos Aires government would regard approval of the resolution as affirmation of its "moral right" and would soften its position accordingly. This seemed to indicate the Argentines would let their demand for Eichmann's return lapse.

Mrs. Meir repeated Israel's contention that Jewish volunteers, acting independently and not as agents of her government, found Eichmann in Buenos Aires, captured him and took him to Israel last month for trial.

The Argentine delegate, Mario Amadeo, told the council the Israeli government, in accepting Eichmann, had automatically approved his capture and "has therefore become responsible for it."

Mrs. Meir, pleading the "exceptional nature and uniqueness" of Eichman's case, asked whether the greater threat to peace lay in "Eichmann brough to trial" by Jews he had planned to kill, or in "Eichmann at large, Eichmann unpunished."

Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev, U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge and Sir Pierson Dixon of Britain all backed Argentina's contention that her sovereignty had been violated.

Future of U.S. Japanese Alliance Hinges on Outcome of Tokyo Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States was legally assured today of the right to maintain military bases in Japan for another 10 years. But the continuing Japanese political crisis rendered uncertain the future of the alliance between the two countries.

A new security treaty binding Tokyo and Washington in an anti-Communist partnership became effective with unprecedented speed. Ratification documents were exchanged formally in Tokyo only seven hours after the U.S. Senate voted 90-2 Wednesday afternoon to approve the pact.

Japan had completed the necessary preliminaries last Saturday, despite riotous opposition within that country to continuance of U.S. bases there.

But the successful conclusion of the pact is costing Premier Nobusuke Kishi his position. He said he is resigning, and an aide said he will step out as soon as stability can be restored.

U.S. officials have expressed confidence that the violent opposition commands the support of only a minority of the Japanese people. They say they are sure that when the controversy is finally resolved, Japan will remain firm in its ties with the United States.

They expect democracy in Japan to survive the crisis.

But behind the scenes of official Washington there is nonetheless considerable apprehension about the course of events in Japan during the next few months. This anxiety seems certain to persist until, through new elections promised by Kishi, the Japanese people have made known their attitude toward the issues sharply posed in the last few troubled weeks.

The treaty was brought into force with extraordinary speed according to a secret plan, carefully guarded against any advance disclosure. The State Department said the arrangements were made in advance of President Eisenhower's departure for the Far East 10 days ago.

The department disclosed late Wednesday night that before Eisenhower left Washington he had signed the United States ratification paper and it had been properly attested by Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.

Only the date of the document and the date of Senate approval were left blank. The paper was then dispatched to Ambassador Douglas MacArthur II in Tokyo for use following Senate action.

In Honolulu, it was announced that Eisenhower flashed a go-ahead to MacArthur within minutes after the Senate had acted.

The State Department statement said nothing about the riotous demonstration in Tokyo as being any cause for the speedy action or the secret plan of ratification. Instead, it said the advance arrangements were made because of the possibility that the ratification papers would be exchanged before Eisenhower's return to the United States and possibly while he was in Tokyo—it being assumed at the time the President left here, June 12, that he would go through with the Japanese visit which was canceled because of the riots.

Japan Premier Awaits Naming Of Successor

Secret Ceremony Sees U.S. Defense Alliance Put into Full Force

TOKYO (AP) — Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi today put into effect a new 10-year military alliance between the United States and Japan—the major goal of his 3½-year regime—and announced he would resign.

Kishi, for weeks the target of fanatical demonstrations by radical students, Socialists, Communists and labor forces, set no date for his resignation. But a spokesman said the Cabinet would quit en masse as soon as Kishi's Liberal Democratic party decides on his successor.

Approval of the Liberal Democratic choice is a certainty, since the party has a majority in both houses of Parliament. But considerable trading between rival factions may be necessary before agreement.

The new U. S.-Japan security pact went into force at a hurried ceremony arranged secretly to foil plans of Japanese left-wingers to delay final action on the controversial treaty.

U.S. Ambassador Douglas MacArthur II and Foreign Minister Aiichiro Fujiyama met at Fujiyama's heavily guarded residence and exchanged documents covering their governments' ratification of the treaty.

The exchange immediately made the pact effective, continuing the U.S.-Japanese military alliance, giving the United States military bases in Japan at least for the next 10 years and pledging the United States to defend Japan against attack.

Japan's left wing had been staging huge and sometimes violent demonstrations for a month against the treaty, contending it might involve Japan in a war between the United States and the Soviet Union or Communist China. Some members of Kishi's party also felt their country should not bw aligned with either side in the cold war.

Although the leftist demonstrations forced Kishi to call off President Eisenhower's visit to Japan, the Premier stubbornly refused to dissolve Parliament and make the treaty the issue in a general election.

Later 300 weary, dispirited leftist students squatted in front of the foreign ministry. Another 1,500 held memorial rites in downtown Hibiya Park for Michiko Kamba, 22, a girl student who was killed in a student riot at Parliament June 15.

The students were expected to demonstrate later at Parliament, but one, questioned about the

Dem Leaders Seek To Revive School Construction Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) —House Democratic leaders today sought to breathe new life into a school construction bill apparently doomed to death by the House Rules Committee.

The committee took both Republican and Democratic leaders by surprise Wednesday by refusing to allow the House to seek a compromise with the Senate on school legislation. The two houses have passed widely differing bills on the subject.

With Congress rushing toward adjournment, the committee's action spells doom for the bill this year unless it can be prevailed upon to reconsider the matter, or the Senate agrees to pass the House bill in much its present form.

Election year politics loom large in efforts to revive the bill, which would provide federal grants to help states build schoolrooms.

Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson, who would like to be the Democratic candidate for president, badly wants a school bill to bolster his bid for the nomination. His fellow Texan, House Speaker Sam Rayburn, would like to help him get it.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the probable Republican candidate, is also pushing for passage of a school bill, if for no other reason than to deprive the Democrats of an issue in the forthcoming campaign.

Nixon conferred last week with House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana in an effort to get favorable committee action on the measure.

But in the 7-5 vote, all four committee Republicans joined three Southern Democrats to defeat the conference move supported by five other Democrats.

Only two courses remain open to backers of the legislation. Either they must prevail upon the committee to reconsider, or they must induce the Senate to abandon its own bill and act on the House measure.

Under the latter plan, the Senate would be expected to strike out a House-approved amendment denying federal funds to segregated schools, with the understanding that the House probably would agree to go along with that change.

Thunderstorm Hits County; Power Halted

A typical summer thunderstorm, with some rain and plenty of lightning, hit Pickaway County yesterday afternoon.

Wind blew over a trailer at the farm of Cledis Jinks, Circleville-Lockbourne Road, at about 4 p. m. yesterday. The trailer, owned by Donald L. Garrett, was damaged heavily.

Lightning struck a power line on Route 22, just west of the Scioto River, disrupting power service in some areas.

Eldred Parsons, district manager of the Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co., said power was off for a half - hour in the area of N. Pickaway St., Northridge Road, and in Ashville. Power was off in an area west of town from about 4:30 p. m. to 9 p. m.

* * *

HEAVY RAINS in isolated sections covered low spots in roads and streets, but the downpour was comparatively light in other county areas.

Areas in New Holland, Atlanta, Pickaway Twp., Washington Twp., and Walnut Twp. reported lashing rains and hail for nearly 45 minutes yesterday afternoon.

But Circleville was barely drenched as a meager 0.12 of an inch of percipitation fell around 5 to 6 p. m. yesterday. Although the city trails in the monthly rainfall by 1.94 inches, rural areas have had considerably more rainfall.

Storms and thundershowers are predicted for today, tonight and tomorrow. Clear weather is predicted for Saturday. But humid conditions are expected to continue throughout the weekend.

The county still is undergoing drought conditions as rainfall is behind the average yearly percipitation by five inches. Unless unusual wet conditions develop in July and August, the county's farm crops are going to suffer.

TV Reform Bill Near Passage

Payola, Quiz Rigging Due To Be Outlawed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House votes today on a sweeping broadcasting reform bill to make payola and quiz show rigging a federal crime and outlaw other abuses in the TV-radio industry.

Little or no opposition was indicated to the bill's chief provisions although efforts to change some of the terms were considered likely.

However, a possibly bitter fight appeared in prospect over promised attempts to write in an amendment to put television and radio networks under federal regulation.

"I most certainly intend to offer a network regulation amendment" Rep. John B. Bennett (R-Mich) told a reporter. The House Commerce Committee rebuffed his efforts to add such a provision when it approved the reform bill earlier this month.

Bennett later blamed lobbying pressure by the broadcasting industry for defeat of his proposal. He said the action left the bill "woefully deficient."

To help assure Senate consideration despite the adjournment drive, the House committee attached its bill to a minor Senate-passed measure dealing with applications for broadcast licenses. Assuming the House passes it, this would eliminate the need for separate action by a Senate committee.

The bill stems from the series of headline-making inquiries by the House Legislative Oversight subcommittee into quiz show fixing and undercover payoffs to disc jockeys to plug records.

The bill would make both payola and quiz show rigging criminal offenses punishable by up to one year in prison and $10,000 fine. It would require that all broadcast matter for which any kind of payment, direct or indirect, is made must be identified on the air as being paid.

Broadcast station licensees also would be required to "exercise reasonable diligence" to determine whether payola is occurring.

Ohio GOP Schedules Organization Meet

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio Republicans will get themselves organized July 11—the day the Democratic national convention opens—for their own convention starting July 25.

Delegates and alternates to the GOP convention will meet in Columbus for a luncheon July 11, Republican State Chairman Ray C. Bliss announced today. National convention committee members will be selected at the luncheon.

Scioto Basin Conservancy District Problems Studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio water commissioners have been told that a smaller, more efficient conservancy district is the answer to flood control, water convervation and pollution in Franklin and neighboring counties.

Mechanics of getting it differed.

Columbus leaned toward dissolving the 17-county unproductive Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy District and creating a smaller one in the Scioto River basin.

Ross County and Chillicothe held out for continuing the Scioto-Sandusky District, allowing withdrawal of disinterested counties and concentrating effort in three or four other counties, including Franklin.

Columbus' views were presented Wednesday by Service Director Ernest H. Stork and members of the Development Committee for Greater Columbus while Richard E. Midden of the Chillicothe Area Chamber of Commerce urged retention of the Scioto-Sandusky organization as much quicker method of getting results.

The seven-member water commission which is touring the state to hear community problems repeatedly heard of fears of floods, frequent reference to the January 1959 flood, and of water needs.

More apprehensive than others was Midden who foresaw an almost complete inundation of Chillicothe should another flood occur there.

After four hours of testimony, Herbert B. Eagon, state natural resources director and commission vice chairman, noted publicly that not a single member of the Scioto-Sandusky District or its court attended.

Special effort was made to notify them, Eagon said, adding that "certainly something is lacking or this would not occur."

Members of the development committee, after hearing Midden, said immediate steps will be taken to resolve differences of various counties. Columbus and Pickaway, Ross, and Pike counties have filed suit to stop dissolution of the Scioto-Sandusky District as ordered by the Conservancy District Court in December 1958.

In view of opinions of the Columbus city administration and the development committee, Columbus City Atty. Russell Leach will file a request for dismissal of the Columbus suit before Aug. 1.

Draft-Adlai Move Starts

Nomination Predicted 'After Several Ballots'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Formation of a nationwide draft-stevenson movement was announced today by James Doyle of Madison, Wis. onb ehalf of supporters of former Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois.

Doyle, a former Democratic state chairman, told newsmen he expects to mobilize and coordinate the support of volunteer organizations already existing in more than 40 states.

Doyle predicted Stevenson's nomination after several ballots. He emphatically denied any idea of launching a stop-Kennedy movement.

Doyle said that the Democratic National Committee chairman so far has refused to assign the Stevenson backers any headquarters space in the convention hotel headquarters in Los Angeles.

He has already battled with Chairman Paul M. Butler on that issue, Doyle said. He added that he hopes others may persuade Butler to alter what Doyle called his "unreasonable and arbitrary" position.

Doyle told a news conference that Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts has far less first-vote strength than his backers claim. He predicted Kennedy will lose some votes as well as gain some in succeeding ballots and in the end wind up short of the needed 761 votes for nomination.

Doyle said he had accepted the task of organizing state and city groups of Stevenson supporters at the request of these Stevenson supporters:

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt; former Secretary of the Air Force, Thomas K. Finletter, of New York; Sen. John Carroll of Colorado; former Sen. Herbert H. Lehman of New York; Mrs. Eugene Meyer, widow of the publisher of the Washington Post; and Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma.

Ex-Showgirl Claims Tycoon's Estate

CLEVELAND (AP)—Miss Cynda Glenn of New York, a former showgirl, filed suit in Common Pleas Court Wednesday challenging the $4,200,000 will of the late Samuel T. Haas on grounds he was not mentally competent to make a will while lying on his death bed.

Haas, millionaire attorney and real estate developer, died last year and left most of his money in bequests to a half-dozen Cleveland institutions, a fund to aid young doctors and a number of friends and relatives.

Attorneys for Miss Glenn had previously filed suit to establish she was really Mrs. Haas and thus entitled under Ohio law to half the estate. That suit will be heard in early October.

Houston Votes To Become Largest City

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Houston City Council voted Wednesday night to make Houston the largest city in the world in area even though Mayor Lewis Cutrer called the idea "preposterious."

The council voted to annex about 1,100 square miles, which is everything not annexed by some other Harris County city. The annexation would give Houston an area of 1,530 square miles.

A second and final reading of the annexation ordinance will be held within about 30 days.

On the basis of preliminary census figures Houston is the sixth largest city in the nation in population with 932,680 residents, an increase of 56.4 per cent since 1950. The population of the Houston metropolitan area is estimated at 1,232,179.

Cutrer said that Houston "with over 450 square miles and within four square miles of being as large as Los Angeles, has plenty of room in which to grow."

Los Angeles, with an area of 455 square miles, is the largest city in area in the nation. It has 2,451,832 residents and its metropolitan area, Los Angeles County, has 5,987,246 residents.

Axe Slaying Victim Is Found in Wreck

CLEVELAND (AP)—The body of a Ravenna man who was killed by several axe blows on the head, was found in a wrecked car in suburban Lakewood today.

Lakewood police identified the victim as John Thomas Rayfield, about 35, Ravenna.

Held by Cleveland police in connection with the slaying was Alto Mitchell, Cleveland.

Mitchell was arrested a short time after the car carrying Rayfield's body crashed during a 90-mile-an-hour chase. The car was fleeing the scene of an accident.

Mitchell, who was armed with a .32-caliber, was apprehended by Rocky River police along the Nickel Plate tracks. He did not resist arrest, officers said.

777th Village Gets OK

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Fort Shawnee in Allen County is Ohio's 777th village. Secretary of state Ted W. Brown certified the incorporation Wednesday.

Educator Asks 11 Months of School in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A "three-semester school year" totaling 11 months has been proposed by a state school board member as the solution to overcrowding and the continuing need for more buildings.

Paul L. Walker, of Columbus, proposed the system Wednesday as an alternative to accepting federal education aid.

Under his plan each semester would last 15 weeks, six days a week. There could be a two-week vacation at Christmas time, perhaps a week in the spring and four in the summer, the latter to perform maintenance on the buildings, he said.

Walker admitted the proposal might "provoke the outright wrath" of parents and teachers, but suggested that the 50 per cent boost in work load should indicate a similar increase in teacher pay.

"Children are now required by law to be in class 176 days per year. Few buildings are in use more than 35 hours per week—and I know of no large industry which has its plant idle for 12 weeks in the summer," the board member said.

Under his system, Walker said, classes would be smaller, a desirable educational objective. Summer air conditioning might be installed in the schools and the traditional summer vacation period might be balanced by the trend toward winter vacations, he commented.

Teays Valley Residents Ask Questions about Bond Issue

This is the second in a series of articles concerning the question of returning the $1,900,000 high school bond issue for the Teays Valley School District to the ballot for a third time.

Residents of the Teays Valley School District are faced with the problem of either constructing school facilities for the education of their children or losing their state charter.

This fact and many others were discussed Monday night by members of the TV Board of Education and approximately 40 of the district's prominent businessmen, property owners and large farmland owners.

The group discussed the possibility of placing the $1,900,000 high school bond issue on the ballot for the third time. Twice it has been defeated, first by 66.6 per cent of the voters and then by 55.5 per cent of those balloting.

School officials warned that its present three high schools at Ashville, Walnut and Scioto Twps. are not adequate and probably will not meet state standards at their forthcoming inspection.

* * *

IF THIS happens, they will lose their charters and may not operate high schools. This has occured in other counties and students have ended up traveling many miles to schools in other districts or counties.

One of the first requirements that TV schools will not be able to meet is the minimum of 240 pupils in the high schools.

These statements brought protests of state supervision of local problems and telling the local citizenry what to do without giving them a voice in the matter or providing funds to accomplish what some think is the impossible.

But one person attending settled this quarrel quickly when he said, "Whether we like it or not, the state has ordered consolidation and will continue to order us around. Let's face up to the situation and do the best we can."

TV executive head, Earl R. Gregg, said Ohio State University graduates are being told by the school's placement bureau not to accept positions with high schools under 240 enrollment because they will soon disappear from the scene.

If the issue passes in its present form, the added millage will be 3.4 mills or $3.40 per $1,000 of taxable real estate valuation.

* * *

BOARD member, John Moss, brought out this viewpoint. Before consolidation, Ashville was paying 4 mills for the erection of an elementary grade school.

Consolidation cut the village's bond issue millage to 0.08 of a mill. Now if the bond issue would pass, it would only raise the Ashville millage 0.02 of a mill more than it was paying before consolidation and "it would have a

A typical summer thunderstorm, with some rain and plenty of lightning, hit Pickaway County yesterday afternoon.

Wind blew over a trailer at the farm of Cledis Jinks, Circleville-Lockbourne Road, at about 4 p. m. yesterday. The trailer, owned by Donald L. Garrett, was damaged heavily.

Lightning struck a power line on Route 22, just west of the Scioto River, disrupting power service in some areas.

Eldred Parsons, district manager of the Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co., said power was off for a half - hour in the area of N. Pickaway St., Northridge Road, and in Ashville. Power was off in an area west of town from about 4:30 p. m. to 9 p. m.

* * *

HEAVY RAINS in isolated sections covered low spots in roads and streets, but the downpour was comparatively light in other county areas.

Areas in New Holland, Atlanta, Pickaway Twp., Washington Twp., and Walnut Twp. reported lashing rains and hail for nearly 45 minutes yesterday afternoon.

But Circleville was barely drenched as a meager 0.12 of an inch of percipitation fell around 5 to 6 p. m. yesterday. Although the city trails in the monthly rainfall by 1.94 inches, rural areas have had considerably more rainfall.

Storms and thundershowers are predicted for today, tonight and tomorrow. Clear weather is predicted for Saturday. But humid conditions are expected to continue throughout the weekend.

The county still is undergoing drought conditions as rainfall is behind the average yearly percipitation by five inches. Unless unusual wet conditions develop in July and August, the county's farm crops are going to suffer.

TV Reform Bill Near Passage

Payola, Quiz Rigging Due To Be Outlawed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House votes today on a sweeping broadcasting reform bill to make payola and quiz show rigging a federal crime and outlaw other abuses in the TV-radio industry.

Little or no opposition was indicated to the bill's chief provisions although efforts to change some of the terms were considered likely.

However, a possibly bitter fight appeared in prospect over promised attempts to write in an amendment to put television and radio networks under federal regulation.

"I most certainly intend to offer a network regulation amendment" Rep. John B. Bennett (R-Mich) told a reporter. The House Commerce Committee rebuffed his efforts to add such a provision when it approved the reform bill earlier this month.

Bennett later blamed lobbying pressure by the broadcasting industry for defeat of his proposal. He said the action left the bill "woefully deficient."

To help assure Senate consideration despite the adjournment drive, the House committee attached its bill to a minor Senate-passed measure dealing with applications for broadcast licenses. Assuming the House passes it, this would eliminate the need for separate action by a Senate committee.

The bill stems from the series of headline-making inquiries by the House Legislative Oversight subcommittee into quiz show fixing and undercover payoffs to disc jockeys to plug records.

The bill would make both payola and quiz show rigging criminal offenses punishable by up to one year in prison and $10,000 fine. It would require that all broadcast matter for which any kind of payment, direct or indirect, is made must be identified on the air as being paid.

Broadcast station licensees also would be required to "exercise reasonable diligence" to determine whether payola is occurring.

Ohio GOP Schedules Organization Meet

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio Republicans will get themselves organized July 11—the day the Democratic national convention opens—for their own convention starting July 25.

Delegates and alternates to the GOP convention will meet in Columbus for a luncheon July 11, Republican State Chairman Ray C. Bliss announced today. National convention committee members will be selected at the luncheon.

Scioto Basin Conservancy District Problems Studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio water commissioners have been told that a smaller, more efficient conservancy district is the answer to flood control, water convervation and pollution in Franklin and neighboring counties.

Mechanics of getting it differed.

Columbus leaned toward dissolving the 17-county unproductive Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy District and creating a smaller one in the Scioto River basin.

Ross County and Chillicothe held out for continuing the Scioto-Sandusky District, allowing withdrawal of disinterested counties and concentrating effort in three or four other counties, including Franklin.

Columbus' views were presented Wednesday by Service Director Ernest H. Stork and members of the Development Committee for Greater Columbus while Richard E. Midden of the Chillicothe Area Chamber of Commerce urged retention of the Scioto-Sandusky organization as much quicker method of getting results.

The seven-member water commission which is touring the state to hear community problems repeatedly heard of fears of floods, frequent reference to the January 1959 flood, and of water needs.

More apprehensive than others was Midden who foresaw an almost complete inundation of Chillicothe should another flood occur there.

After four hours of testimony, Herbert B. Eagon, state natural resources director and commission vice chairman, noted publicly that not a single member of the Scioto-Sandusky District or its court attended.

Special effort was made to notify them, Eagon said, adding that "certainly something is lacking or this would not occur."

Members of the development committee, after hearing Midden, said immediate steps will be taken to resolve differences of various counties. Columbus and Pickaway, Ross, and Pike counties have filed suit to stop dissolution of the Scioto-Sandusky District as ordered by the Conservancy District Court in December 1958.

In view of opinions of the Columbus city administration and the development committee, Columbus City Atty. Russell Leach will file a request for dismissal of the Columbus suit before Aug. 1.

Draft-Adlai Move Starts

Nomination Predicted 'After Several Ballots'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Formation of a nationwide draft-stevenson movement was announced today by James Doyle of Madison, Wis. onb ehalf of supporters of former Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois.

Doyle, a former Democratic state chairman, told newsmen he expects to mobilize and coordinate the support of volunteer organizations already existing in more than 40 states.

Doyle predicted Stevenson's nomination after several ballots. He emphatically denied any idea of launching a stop-Kennedy movement.

Doyle said that the Democratic National Committee chairman so far has refused to assign the Stevenson backers any headquarters space in the convention hotel headquarters in Los Angeles.

He has already battled with Chairman Paul M. Butler on that issue, Doyle said. He added that he hopes others may persuade Butler to alter what Doyle called his "unreasonable and arbitrary" position.

Doyle told a news conference that Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts has far less first-vote strength than his backers claim. He predicted Kennedy will lose some votes as well as gain some in succeeding ballots and in the end wind up short of the needed 761 votes for nomination.

Doyle said he had accepted the task of organizing state and city groups of Stevenson supporters at the request of these Stevenson supporters:

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt; former Secretary of the Air Force, Thomas K. Finletter, of New York; Sen. John Carroll of Colorado; former Sen. Herbert H. Lehman of New York; Mrs. Eugene Meyer, widow of the publisher of the Washington Post; and Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma.

Houston Votes To Become Largest City

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Houston City Council voted Wednesday night to make Houston the largest city in the world in area even though Mayor Lewis Cutrer called the idea "preposterous."

The council voted to annex about 1,100 square miles, which is everything not annexed by some other Harris County city. The annexation would give Houston an area of 1,550 square miles.

A second and final reading of the annexation ordinance will be held within about 30 days.

On the basis of preliminary census figures Houston is the sixth largest city in the nation in population with 932,680 residents, an increase of 56.4 per cent since 1950. The population of the Houston metropolitan area is estimated at 1,232,179.

Cutrer said that Houston "with over 450 square miles and within four square miles of being as large as Los Angeles, has plenty of room in which to grow."

Los Angeles, with an area of 455 square miles, is the largest city in area in the nation. It has 2,451,832 residents and its metropolitan area, Los Angeles County, has 5,987,246 residents.

Ex-Showgirl Claims Tycoon's Estate

CLEVELAND (AP)—Miss Cynda Glenn of New York, a former showgirl, filed suit in Common Pleas Court Wednesday challenging the $4,200,000 will of the late Samuel T. Haas on grounds he was not mentally competent to make a will while lying on his death bed.

Haas, millionaire attorney and real estate developer, died last year and left most of his money in bequests to a half-dozen Cleveland institutions, a fund to aid young doctors and a number of friends and relatives.

Attorneys for Miss Glenn had previously filed suit to establish she was really Mrs. Haas and thus entitled under Ohio law to half the estate. That suit will be heard in early October.

Axe Slaying Victim Is Found in Wreck

CLEVELAND (AP)—The body of a Ravenna man who was killed by several axe blows on the head, was found in a wrecked car in suburban Lakewood today.

Lakewood police identified the victim as John Thomas Rayfield, about 35, Ravenna.

Held by Cleveland police in connection with the slaying was Alto Mitchell, Cleveland.

Mitchell was arrested a short time after the car carrying Rayfield's body crashed during a 90-mile-an-hour chase. The car was fleeing the scene of an accident.

Mitchell, who was armed with a .32-caliber, was apprehended by Rocky River police along the Nickel Plate tracks. He did not resist arrest, officers said.

777th Village Gets OK

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Fort Shawnee in Allen County is Ohio's 777th village. Secretary of state Ted W. Brown certified the incorporation Wednesday.

Educator Asks 11 Months of School in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A "three-semester school year" totaling 11 months has been proposed by a state school board member as the solution to overcrowding and the continuing need for more buildings.

Paul L. Walker, of Columbus, proposed the system Wednesday as an alternative to accepting federal education aid.

Under his plan each semester would last 15 weeks, six days a week. There could be a two-week vacation at Christmas time, perhaps a week in the spring and four in the summer, the latter to perform maintenance on the buildings, he said.

Walker admitted the proposal might "provoke the outright wrath" of parents and teachers, but suggested that the 50 per cent boost in work load should indicate a similar increase in teacher pay.

"Children are now required by law to be in class 176 days per year. Few buildings are in use more than 35 hours per week—and I know of no large industry which has its plant idle for 12 weeks in the summer," the board member said.

Under his system, Walker said, classes would be smaller, a desirable educational objective. Summer air conditioning might be installed in the schools and the traditional summer vacation period might be balanced by the trend toward winter vacations, he commented.

Teays Valley Residents Ask Questions about Bond Issue

This is the second in a series of articles concerning the question of returning the $1,900,000 high school bond issue for the Teays Valley School District to the ballot for a third time.

Residents of the Teays Valley School District are faced with the problem of either constructing school facilities for the education of their children or losing their state charter.

This fact and many others were discussed Monday night by members of the TV Board of Education and approximately 40 of the district's prominent businessmen, property owners and large farmland owners.

The group discussed the possibility of placing the $1,900,000 high school bond issue on the ballot for the third time. Twice it has been defeated, first by 66.6 per cent of the voters and then by 55.5 per cent of those balloting.

School officials warned that its present three high schools at Ashville, Walnut and Scioto Twps. are not adequate and probably will not meet state standards at their forthcoming inspection.

* * *

IF THIS happens, they will lose their charters and may not operate high schools. This has occured in other counties and students have ended up traveling many miles to schools in other districts or counties.

One of the first requirements that TV schools will not be able to meet is the minimum of 240 pupils in the high schools.

These statements brought protests of state supervision of local problems and telling the local citizenry what to do without giving them a voice in the matter or providing funds to accomplish what some think is the impossible.

But one person attending settled this quarrel quickly when he said, "Whether we like it or not, the state has ordered consolidation and will continue to order us around. Let's face up to the situation and do the best we can."

TV executive head, Earl R. Gregg, said Ohio State University graduates are being told by the school's placement bureau not to accept positions with high schools under 240 enrollment because they will soon disappear from the scene.

If the issue passes in its present form, the added millage will be 3.4 mills or $3.40 per $1,000 of taxable real estate valuation.

* * *

BOARD member, John Moss, brought out this viewpoint. Before consolidation, Ashville was paying 4 mills for the erection of an elementary grade school.

Consolidation cut the village's bond issue millage to 0.08 of a mill. Now if the bond issue would pass, it would only raise the Ashville millage 0.02 of a mill more then it was paying before consolidation and "it would have a

House Refuses New Wheat Props

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House today virtually ended any chance of new wheat legislation this year by defeating a bill to increase the price support level and reduce wheat acreage.

It was beaten 236-170.

The measure was backed by most Democrats on the House Agriculture Committee, but opposed by the administration.

It would have raised the supports for wheat from the current level of 75 percent of parity to 85 per cent and reduced wheat acreage by 25 per cent.

The result of today's house action is to leave the present program in effect for the 1961 and later crops. Under this, wheat is currently supported at $1.77 a bushel.

Kishi did not attend the signing but met meanwhile with his cabinet a few miles away.

Annual Red Cross Report Announced

Reports of a successful Pickaway County Chapter of the American Red Cross year were read last night during the annual meeting of the chapter in the Wardell Party Home.

Mrs. Roliff Wolford, executive secretary, read the home service report, which is under her jurisdiction. It included: 47 health and welfare reports handled;

Requests for emergency leave or extension of leave, 21; reports for the Armed Services, 17; reports for the Veterans Administration, 6; assistance with request for hardship discharge, 8; miscellaneous assistance, 15, and counselling, 62.

A total of 120 different families were served by the chapter and 47 families were served more than once. Thirty-five loans were granted, totaling $2,156.15. Grants amounted to $170.46 for six cases.

* * *

THERE WERE eight courses in standard First Aid given during the year with 81 graduates. Plans now are underway for a class, sponsored by the local Civil Defense Agency. There are 12 authorized First Aid instructors in the county now.

Donald Collins, Water Safety chairman, gave his report. More than 750 children and adults received swimming instruction last summer with Mrs. Donald Rhoads as supervisor.

There are 15 authorized Water Safety instructors and 10 trained Water Safety aides. This summer's program is under the direction of Misses Florence and Joanna Goldschmidt.

Classes will start Monday at the Circleville Municipal Pool and on July 11 at Ashville's pool The Goldschmidt's yesterday arrived home from attending National Aquatic School, Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind. They were sponsored by the local chapter.

Nursing services included training a Girl Scout Troop in a course of home nursing under the instruction of Mrs. Eleanor Dawson. They now are serving as volunteer candy Stripe Girls at Berger Hospital.

Mrs. J. Boyd Stout, volunteer services chairman, read her report. Chapter members attended five Buckeye Council meetings during the year and entertained the group here in March at the Wardell Party Home.

* * *

MRS. LEO HUGHES and Mrs. Earl Weaver received training as Gray Ladies. The chapter furnished 150 gifts for the gift store at the Veterans Hospital, Chillicothe.

Groups of ladies are assisting with the operation of the store and mending once a month there. This was the chapter's first year in the volunteer services program.

Edward Grigg, Blood Program chairman, made his report. To date, 629 pints of blood have been collected in four visits to Circleville and one to Ashville.

Collections during the last half of 1959 amounted to 293 pints, which shows the tremendous increase in the program since Grigg assumed chairmanship of it in January. The total for 1959 was 922.

Grigg and his organization have concentrated on contacting as many donors as possible. It has been so successful that lines have formed at the Bloodmobile visits to an extent that promotion of the campaign was lessened to alleviate the long waiting periods.

Mrs. Charles Kirkpatrick, disaster program chairman, reported assistance was given four families in cases of fires. The chapter now is accepting donations for Chilean Relief. Contributions to date total $52.

* * *

THE 1960-61 budget was approved. It includes home service-grants and uncollectible loans, $750, salaries, $1,600, and half of telephone, wire service and automobile gasoline, $550;

House Refuses New Wheat Props

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House today virtually ended any chance of new wheat legislation this year by defeating a bill to increase the price support level and reduce wheat acreage.

It was beaten 236-170.

The measure was backed by most Democrats on the House Agriculture Committee, but opposed by the administration.

It would have raised the supports for wheat from the current level of 75 percent of parity to 85 per cent and reduced wheat acreage by 25 per cent.

The result of today's house action is to leave the present program in effect for the 1961 and later crops. Under this, wheat is currently supported at $1.77 a bushel.

Foreign Students Defect

Government of Iraq, in a Radio Bagh dad broadcast, has appealed to its stud ents abroad to come home (and it doesn't mean to demonstrate) when they're through with their studies. This spotlights a trend which has educators worried.

Some of the brightest students in the underdeveloped countries are sent abroad for college and specialized training so they can be leaders of the future in their home lands. But what happens?

In a disturbingly high number of cases the student decides he wants to stay abroad, become naturalized, and sever all ties with his homeland. This is reported to be true expecially in the United States — with some estimates of foreign students deciding to stay here after graduation as high as 10 to 15 per cent.

Reasons are that creature comforts, plus the fact that a good wage is much easier to obtain, win out with many stud ents over the prospect of going home and eventually becoming leaders in government or private business. This is especial ly true of the less brilliant students.

Egypt has become sufficiently disturbed over this trend that it is now restricting education abroad to the graduate student level. It contends experience has shown that by the time a student is of that age and mature outlook he is much more like ly to return home. That way the nation doesn't lose the cream of its potential lead ership abroad.

This seems to be the modern version of the old query, "How ya gonna keep 'em down on the farm after they've seen Paree?"

You Middle-Aged, Worthless?

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Are you middle - aged? Do you feel worthless?

This feeling is very common to many people in their autumn years.

Even middle-aged women sometimes feel a sense of uselessness, once their children are reard.

But a woman is usually too smart—and has too much basic self-respect—to let that feeling linger long. She cures herself by taking off her shoes which is a feminine remedy for almost any il ,lby eating a steak dinner, by buying a new hat, or by picking a quarrel with her husband. For some reason women always feel better after fussing at their husband.

It is the middle-aged man who is more likely to get the feeling he is no good—and to brood over it.

He may be a pillar of the community. He may never have gone to jail in his life. He may be doing well on his job, paying his debts, and abstaining from striking his children or dog in public. He may even remember to send a greeting card to his mother-in-law on Mothers Day.

Yet he is dissatisfied with himself. He is swept by recurring moods of black melancholy. He feels, unreasonably to be sure, that he and his life add up to a mutual zero.

This man, obviously, is in need of what psychologists call "ego satisfaction." He needs to build a better opinion of himself, to regain a feeling of virtue and an appreciation of his own worth.

How can a middle-aged man do this? If you have this problem, here are a few suggestions:

Buy yourself an automatic backpatter. When you come home from work, feeling low, you simply stand in front of the machine. It pats you repeatedly on the shoulder with a firm hand while a tape-recorded voice booms in your ear, "you're the greatest."

Confess to your wife you feel like a bum. From then on the problem is hers—and she will fight it, too. She won't permit any husband of hers to feel like a bum. She has too much pride.

Move to a hut in the wilderness, and build a better mousetrap. The world will then beat a path to your door—thus making it at least easier for you to move back into town.

Read the Encyclopedia Britannica clear through. Anyone who does this always winds up with an almost insufferable sense of superiority over the common herd.

Lose yourself in a new and important cause. For example, why not start a League for Higher Taxes? There is no surer cause to lose yourself in. Everyone will tell you, "Get lost."

The main thing to do is not to give into this widespread feeling of middle-aged uselessness. Do something about it.

If all else fails, there is one final solution.

Grow old. Then, at least, you won't feel middle-aged.

Red General Misunderstands

By George Sokolsky

It will be remembered that when Nikita Khrushchev did his talking in Paris, two men were always present. One was Andrei Gromyko, who has lived in the United States for many years, particularly as the Soviet delegate to the United Nations. The other was the Soviet Defense Minister, Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky, a new face to most of us. Malinovsky did not speak, but often Khrushchev whispered in his ear.

In their book, "Ask Me Anything," William Randolph Hearst, Jr., Bob Considine and Frank Conniff give excellent character sketches of these Russian personalities who are new to us. They had an exceptional opportunity to study them and without the pretentiousness of psycologists, they report what they saw and heard. Thus they describe Malinovsky:

Malinovsky met us at his office. He was a man whose thick gray hair was combed straight back from his bulldog face without a parting. His eyebrows were black and expressive. He gave each of us a bone - crushing handshake, shook hands with a major general and major — interpreters from the outer office — and with his chunky girl stenographer. Malinovsky then took his place at the head of the familiar conference table and indicated he was ready.

"He wore nine rows of ribbons beneath the dangling gold star of the Order of Lenin. The single Marshal's star on each thickset shoulder was the size of a sheriff's badge. A painting of Lenin reading 'Pravda' looked down from one wall. On other walls were large, flaming paintings of Russian arms in triumph and torment on land and sea.

"The Marshal has a deep voice and it was with an air of complete authority that he gave his blunt estimate of Russian military thinking at this sensitive hour in relations between two great powers."

Of this same Malinovsky, Stalin had once said: "An old woman could operate tanks better than you."

These writers point out how aggressive Malinovsky's conservation was with them but he showed an extraordinary ignorance of the United States.

The following colloquy shows how little he understands:

"'Western military men consider political influence upon their affairs hampers them,' Conniff said. 'Why isn't the same feeling not valid in the case of the Red Army?'

"Malinovsky seemed surprised. 'The Communist Party is the ruling party of the U.S.S.R. and it influences all fields,' he said, spelling it out. 'I would say it would be the same thing as the control your Republican Party has over your military at present.'

"The mouse - quiet major general, seated several chairs down the table, opened a bottle of Russian beer with a loud bang and served the Marshal a glass which he barely touched.

"'You do not understand,'" he continued. 'Many Soviet military units have their own Communist Party organizations, just as nonmilitary organizations have their units. I reject the suggestion given by capitalistic countries that an army must be out of politics.

"'The armed forces of the Soviet Union are a practical instrument of the Communist Party, an extension of the teachings of Lenin and Marx. It bespeaks unity. Our practice has proved correct.'"

Concerning the war in Korea, this conversation took place:

"'Certainly we helped the North Koreans. We sold them some arms in much the same proportions as America provided arms for Syngman Rhee. But remember this: we did not fight there. No Red Army troops or pilots were there. But you were there.'

"'But you should have been there, too, as a member of the UN,' Hearst insisted.

"'We aided the North Koreans because they were fighting for their independence and liberty,' Malinovsky replied stonily.

"'We use the same words in our country about Southern Korea,' Hearst said, 'but they mean something totally different.'"

What is so very interesting in these conversations, and there were many more, is that Malinovsky spoke not as a soldier but as a Communist.

The following Malinovsky statement ought to be noted carefully:

"'. . .many American generals are very often sorry that they have no ideal to plant in the heart of the American soldier, so he will be willing to die for that ideal. You are jealous of us for this. The Communist soldier, the Red Army soldier, has such an ideal in his heart. He has it because he considers the ideal of the commander his own ideal.'"

LONG TIME NO SEE—Claude Harshman, 34-year-old Zanesville, O., ex-soldier, shows his wife a World War II souvenir removed during surgery in a Zanesville hospital. It is a brass-jacketed .45 calibre slug he received in fighting at Tarawa. He had complained of pains and his trouble was diagnosed as a hernia.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

"One of the great things about living in a democracy," boasts Bob Hope, "is that we have complete control over how we pay out taxes — cash, check, or money order."

Hope says that the girl ahead of him in the line at the tax office really set the internal revenue men back on their heels, however. "I'm a nurse," she told them. "Is it all right for me to take off my uniform and underwear?"

Use Eyes while Driving

By Herman N. Bundsen, M. D.

Motorists should develop a "space" habit, too.

Next time you are driving along a toll road or highway, notice how most of the cars are traveling in little groups. With all that roadway around them, there is plenty of room for the cars to string out. Yet they usually bunch together.

Animal packs have found that there is safety in numbers. But that doesn't apply to the motorist. Give yourself plenty of room to stop and plenty of room to see.

Statistics tell us that most accidents are caused by poor timing — drivers don't do the right thing at the right time. And errors in timing usually result from poor seeing habits.

While you may look with your eyes, you see with your mind.

Your central vision is actually only a small cone which gradually gets wider as the distance between the eyes and the object in sight increases.

For example, when you look 100 feet ahead of you, this central vision takes in only what is within a narrow span five feet wide. At 300 feet this cone of vision widens to about 16 feet.

This doesn't mean that you see nothing outside this narrow path. Of course you do, but you see it with fringe, or side vision.

It is this side vision that usua spots approaching objects such as a car off to one sde or a pedestrian crossing the road. It serves as a magnet for your central vision and promptly focuses your attention on the object of main interest.

You should depend upon your lower fringe vision for steering and keep your central vision shifting constantly. Don't glue your eyes so throughly to the road just ahead that you miss changes in the general traffic pattern.

At least every two seconds shift your eyesight. Look right, left, up and down, and don't forget to keep glancing in that rear view mirror.

Your eyes can help keep you out of a lot of trouble if you only will give them the chance.

Homing Torpedo Perfected by Navy

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — An integrated weapon system capable of delivering an acoustic homing torpedo or a depth charge to an enemy submarine while the launching ship is miles away has been unveiled by the Navy.

Called ASROC by the Navy, the system was demonstrated to newsmen off Key West Tuesday. Rear Adm. P. D. Stroop, chief of the Bureau of Naval Weapons, said it "represents a significant advance in the Navy's anti-submarine warfare program."

ASROC has four major parts—an underwater sonar device, an electronic fire-control computer, an eight-missile launcher and the missiles.

The Navy said ASROC makes it possible for surface vessels to attack enemy subs without maneuvering or leaving a convoy.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Summit conferences are over for President Eisenhower—whose term ends in seven months — but that doesn't mean the next president won't go to them.

He'll probably be pressured by Premier Nikita Khrushchev to get together with him as soon as possible. The Russian has already indicated that's what he wants.

One thing seems certain: no future president is likely to go to a summit meeting without much more detailed arrangement than preceded the meeting which blew up in Eisenhower's face.

Khrushchev, of course, has been a kind of diplomatic freak.

Compared with the sour, dour, introspective, aloof, isolated and nongregarious Stalin, Khrushchev is a clubby extrovert, an original, diplomatic do-it-yourselfer.

So long as Khrushchev lives and rules, that is likely to be his attitude. His successor, of course, may revert to the Stalin attitude. That's why it is too soon to say summit conferences are now a diplomatic way of life.

But, assuming the next American president will go to the summit, almost surely this will be his procedure:

1. The foreign ministers will have to meet first and agree not only on what the heavyweights will discuss but what they are apt to reach some agreement on.

For the summit conference which Khrushchev wrecked last May, there was agreement only on a few broad topics the top men should talk about. Nothing was worked out in detail.

2. Any summit meeting is likely to be held quickly after the foreign ministers agree it might be worthwhile to hold a summit meeting at all.

In the case of the ruined summit, agreement was reached in December not to hold it until May. At the time of the agreement relations between the United States and Russia were the best they had been since the war.

But those five months' delay were fatal. They left too much time for talking—the kind of talking that threw cold water on prospects for the summit before it ever began.

For example: The Western foreign ministers met and made it clear they didn't expect much from the summit. Khrushchev's mood changed, and he responded in anger. The result: Shouting back and forth.

3. No president ever again is likely to move one foot out of the United States — and expose himself to the kind of humiliation Khrushchev inflicted on Eisenhower—unless he's certain there will be no blow-ups or embarrassing moments before the meeting begins.

Khrushchev didn't expose his hand—his determination to ridicule Eisenhower and wreck the summit—until it was too late for Eisenhower to call the whole thing off. The President had reached Paris when Khrushchev began to act up.

With the benefit of hindsight, it can be seen now the United States, after Khrushchev's anger over the U2 incident, might have sought to find out from him if he was going to the summit in a hostile or cooperative mood.

4. Very careful preparation is certain to be made—before a summit meeting starts—that nothing is done to throw a cloud over it, as happened when the U2 plane was allowed to spy on Russia two weeks before the summit.

It is the middle-aged man who is more likely to get the feeling he is no good—and to brood over it.

He may be a pillar of the community. He may never have gone to jail in his life. He may be doing well on his job, paying his debts, and abstaining from striking his children or dog in public. He may even remember to send a greeting card to his mother-in-law on Mothers Day.

Yet he is dissatisfied with himself. He is swept by recurring moods of black melancholy. He feels, unreasonably to be sure, that he and his life add up to a mutual zero.

This man, obviously, is in need of what psychologists call "ego satisfaction." He needs to build a better opinion of himself, to regain a feeling of virtue and an appreciation of his own worth.

How can a middle-aged man do this? If you have this problem, here are a few suggestions:

Buy yourself an automatic backpatter. When you come home from work, feeling low, you simply stand in front of the machine. It pats you repeatedly on the shoulder with a firm hand while a tape-recorded voice booms in your ear, "you're the greatest."

Confess to your wife you feel like a bum. From then on the problem is hers—and she will fight it, too. She won't permit any husband of hers to feel like a bum. She has too much pride.

Move to a hut in the wilderness, and build a better mousetrap. The world will then beat a path to your door—thus making it at least easier for you to move back into town.

Read the Encyclopedia Britannica clear through. Anyone who does this always winds up with an almost insufferable sense of superiority over the common herd.

Lose yourself in a new and important cause. For example, why not start a League for Higher Taxes? There is no surer cause to lose yourself in. Everyone will tell you, "Get lost."

The main thing to do is not to give into this widespread feeling of middle-aged uselessness. Do something about it.

If all else fails, there is one final solution.

Grow old. Then, at least, you won't feel middle-aged.

Red General Misunderstands

By George Sokolsky

It will be remembered that when Nikita Khrushchev did his talking in Paris, two men were always present. One was Andrei Gromyko, who has lived in the United States for many years, particularly as the Soviet delegate to the United Nations. The other was the Soviet Defense Minister, Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky, a new face to most of us. Malinovsky did not speak, but often Khrushchev whispered in his ear.

In their book, "Ask Me Anything," William Randolph Hearst, Jr., Bob Considine and Frank Conniff give excellent character sketches of these Russian personalities who are new to us. They had an exceptional opportunity to study them and without the pretentiousness of psycologists, they report what they saw and heard. Thus they describe Malinovsky:

Malinovsky met us at his office. He was a man whose thick gray hair was combed straight back from his bulldog face without a parting. His eyebrows were black and expressive. He gave each of us a bone - crushing handshake, shook hands with a major general and major — interpreters from the outer office — and with his chunky girl stenographer. Malinovsky then took his place at the head of the familiar conference table and indicated he was ready.

"He wore nine rows of ribbons beneath the dangling gold star of the Order of Lenin. The single Marshal's star on each thickset shoulder was the size of a sheriff's badge. A painting of Lenin reading 'Pravda' looked down from one wall. On other walls were large, flaming paintings of Russian arms in triumph and torment on land and sea.

"The Marshal has a deep voice and it was with an air of complete authority that he gave his blunt estimate of Russian military thinking at this sensitive hour in relations between two great powers.'

Of this same Malinovsky, Stalin had once said: "An old woman could operate tanks better than you."

These writers point out how aggressive Malinovsky's conservation was with them but he showed an extraordinary ignorance of the United States.

The following colloquy shows how little he understands:

"'Western military men consider political influence upon their affairs hampers them,' Conniff said. 'Why isn't the same feeling not valid in the case of the Red Army?'

"Malinovsky seemed surprised. 'The Communist Party is the ruling party of the U.S.S.R. and it influences all fields,' he said, spelling it out. 'I would say it would be the same thing as the control your Republican Party has over your military at present.

"The mouse - quiet major general, seated several chairs down the table, opened a bottle of Russian beer with a loud bang and served the Marshal a glass which he barely touched.

"'You do not understand,'" he continued. 'Many Soviet military units have their own Communist Party organizations, just as nonmilitary organizations have their units. I reject the suggestion given by capitalistic countries that an army must be out of politics.

"'The armed forces of the Soviet Union are a practical instrument of the Communist Party, an extension of the teachings of Lenin and Marx. It bespeaks unity. Our practice has proved correct.'"

Concerning the war in Korea, this conversation took place:

"'Certainly we helped the North Koreans. We sold them some arms in much the same proportions as America provided arms for Syngman Rhee. But remember this: we did not fight there. No Red Army troops or pilots were there. But you were there.'

"'But you should have been there, too, as a member of the UN,' Hearst insisted.

"'We aided the North Koreans because they were fighting for their independence and liberty,' Malinovsky replied stonily.

"'We use the same words in our country about Southern Korea,' Hearst said, 'but they mean something totally different.'"

What is so very interesting in these conversations, and there were many more, is that Malinovsky spoke not as a soldier but as a Communist.

The following Malinovsky statement ought to be noted carefully:

"'. . .many American generals are very often sorry that they have no ideal to plant in the heart of the American soldier, so he will be willing to die for that ideal. You are jealous of us for this. The Communist soldier, the Red Army soldier, has such an ideal in his heart. He has it because he considers the ideal of the commander his own ideal."

Try and Stop Me

A BUSINESS MAN read an erroneous announcement of his own death in the morning paper and called up his wife in a frenzy. "Did you read that story about me in the obit page?" he demanded. "I certainly did," answered his wife. "Where are you calling from?"

"One of the great things about living in a democracy," boasts Bob Hope, "is that we have complete control over how we pay out taxes — cash, check, or money order."

Hope says that the girl ahead of him in the line at the tax office really set the internal revenue men back on their heels, however. "I'm a nurse," she told them. "Is it all right for me to take off my uniform and underwear?"

Use Eyes while Driving

By Herman N. Bundsen, M. D.

Motorists should develop a "space" habit, too.

Next time you are driving along a toll road or highway, notice how most of the cars are traveling in little groups. With all that roadway around them, there is plenty of room for the cars to string out. Yet they usually bunch together.

Animal packs have found that there is safety in numbers. But that doesn't apply to the motorist. Give yourself plenty of room to stop and plenty of room to see.

Statistics tell us that most accidents are caused by poor timing — drivers don't do the right thing at the right time. And errors in timing usually result from poor seeing habits.

While you may look with your eyes, you see with your mind.

Your central vision is actually only a small cone which gradually gets wider as the distance between the eyes and the object in sight increases.

For example, when you look 100 feet ahead of you, this central vision takes in only what is within a narrow span five feet wide. At 300 feet this cone of vision widens to about 16 feet.

This doesn't mean that you see nothing outside this narrow path. Of course you do, but you see it with fringe, or side vision.

It is this side vision that usua spots approaching objects such as a car off to one sde or a pedestrian crossing the road. It serves as a magnet for your central vision and promptly focuses your attention on the object of main interest.

You should depend upon your lower fringe vision for steering and keep your central vision shifting constantly. Don't glue your eyes so throughly to the road just ahead that you miss changes in the general traffic pattern.

At least every two seconds shift your eyesight. Look right, left, up and down, and don't forget to keep glancing in that rear view mirror.

Your eyes can help keep you out of a lot of trouble if you only will give them the chance.

Homing Torpedo Perfected by Navy

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — An integrated weapon system capable of delivering an acoustic homing torpedo or a depth charge to an enemy submarine while the launching ship is miles away has been unveiled by the Navy.

Called ASROC by the Navy, the system was demonstrated to newsmen off Key West Tuesday. Rear Adm. P. D. Stroop, chief of the Bureau of Naval Weapons, said it "represents a significant advance in the Navy's anti-submarine warfare program."

ASROC has four major parts—an underwater sonar device, an electronic fire-control computer, an eight-missile launcher and the missiles.

The Navy said ASROC makes it possible for surface vessels to attack enemy subs without maneuvering or leaving a convoy.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Summit conferences are over for President Eisenhower—whose term ends in seven months — but that doesn't mean the next president won't go to them.

He'll probably be pressured by Premier Nikita Khrushchev to get together with him as soon as possible. The Russian has already indicated that's what he wants.

One thing seems certain: no future president is likely to go to a summit meeting without much more detailed arrangement than preceded the meeting which blew up in Eisenhower's face.

Khrushchev, of course, has been a kind of diplomatic freak.

Compared with the sour, dour, introspective, aloof, isolated and nongregarious Stalin, Khrushchev is a clubby extrovert, an original, diplomatic do-it-yourselfer.

So long as Khrushchev lives and rules, that is likely to be his attitude. His successor, of course, may revert to the Stalin attitude. That's why it is too soon to say summit conferences are now a diplomatic way of life.

But, assuming the next American president will go to the summit, almost surely this will be his procedure:

1. The foreign ministers will have to meet first and agree not only on what the heavyweights will discuss but what they are apt to reach some agreement on.

For the summit conference which Khrushchev wrecked last May, there was agreement only on a few broad topics the top men should talk about. Nothing was worked out in detail.

2. Any summit meeting is likely to be held quickly after the foreign ministers agree it might be worthwhile to hold a summit meeting at all.

In the case of the ruined summit, agreement was reached in December not to hold it until May. At the time of the agreement relations between the United States and Russia were the best they had been since the war.

But those five months' delay were fatal. They left too much time for talking—the kind of talking that threw cold water on prospects for the summit before it ever began.

For example: The Western foreign ministers met and made it clear they didn't expect much from the summit. Khrushchev's mood changed, and he responded in anger. The result: Shouting back and forth.

3. No president ever again is likely to move one foot out of the United States — and expose himself to the kind of humiliation Khrushchev inflicted on Eisenhower—unless he's certain there will be no blow-ups or embarrassing moments before the meeting begins.

Khrushchev didn't expose his hand—his determination to ridicule Eisenhower and wreck the summit—until it was too late for Eisenhower to call the whole thing off. The President had reached Paris when Khrushchev began to act up.

With the benefit of hindsight, it can be seen now the United States, after Khrushchev's anger over the U2 incident, might have sought to find out from him if he was going to the summit in a hostile or cooperative mood.

4. Very careful preparation is certain to be made—before a summit meeting starts—that nothing is done to throw a cloud over it, as happened when the U2 plane was allowed to spy on Russia two weeks before the summit.

Budget Boss Pleads for Spending Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maurice Stans, the man who counts the billions in the nation's budget, has pleaded with Congress to lay off big spending programs.

President Eisenhower's 1961 budget, said Budget Director Stans Tuesday, is in "acute jeopardy" of becoming unbalanced.

If all or most of the measures now pending in Congress are enacted, Stans said, "they will shatter the hopes of millions of taxpayers that in due time there might be tax reduction and reform, while meeting our solemn obligation to reduce the staggering 290-billion-dollar public debt."

Stans made his plea in a letter to Rep. John Taber of New York, ranking Republican of the House Ways and Means Committee. Its release seemed timed for maximum effect as Congress jostled into the final weeks before adjournment.

Eisenhower's 80-million-dollar budget for the 1961 fiscal year, which starts July 1, provides a surplus of four billions. But Stans said that was forecast on the basis of holding spending to the President's recommended levels and enactment of higher postal rates and gasoline taxes.

Stans singled out as budget-busting items the lack of postal rate increases, the proposed pay increase for federal workers, extra defense and welfare legislation, and House approval of tax deductions to self-employed persons for pension savings.

U.S. Making Progress on Moon Rockets

WASHINGTON (AP)—The job of building big enough boosters to get man to the moon is progressing well, the House Space Committee reported today, but little is being done to see how he can stay there.

The indications are it will be something less than a pleasure trip for the first spacemen to arrive.

The temperature on the moon ranges each day from a low of 270 degrees below zero to 212 degrees above. There is practically no atmosphere and little gravity.

Meteorites are constantly bombarding the surface, cosmic radiation is intense, and an accidental look at the sun would lead to instantaneous, permanent blindess.

These hazards of lunar living were cited by the committee in a report backing a plan by the Army Corps of Engineers to build a research facility to simulate conditions on the moon.

The facility would cost six million dollars and take three years to build, the committee said.

The committee said big booster projects to provide the thrust for moon trips have top priority ratings. But neither the Defense Department or the National Aeronautics and Space Administration has a single program to simulate conditions a moon explorer will face, it added.

The space program for the next 10 years, as outlined by NASA, calls for manned orbital flights around the moon by the end of the decade. No manned landings on the moon are contemplated before the early 1970s.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Tell Him Facts of Finance

DEAR ABBY: How do you approach the subject of "money" with your husband? We have been married for over a year and I don't know how much he makes or even how much rent we pay. I never see any of the bills. He tells me not to open them. He takes all the bills and pays them. I get an allowance for spending money and it is more than enough, so I save a little. The other day he asked me to sign a paper stating he was taking out a $1,000 loan. I don't know what he needs a loan for. We are supposed to have money in the bank. When I ask questions about finances he tells me not to worry. But I worry, anyway. Don't you think a wife should know something about the financial situation in a marriage?

IN THE DARK

DEAR IN: A wife should certainly know what comes in, what goes out, and why and when. Thank your husband for wanting to spare you from the "money worries", but tell him one way to keep your marriage off the rocks is not to hide too many things under them.

DEAR ABBY: I have a neighbor who likes to run in and out of my house several times a day. She's cheerful and chatty and is the big-hearted type. She's the first one there if I need help with the housework or someone to look after my children for a few hours.

Well, I have one thing against her. She will clean out my candy dish, nut or fruit bowl and think nothing of it. Once she had the nerve to tell me what kind of candy she liked and where I could buy it.

I hate to hurt her feelings, but how can I tell her in nice way that this gets my goat?

CLEANED OUT

DEAR CLEANED: Bowls of nuts, candy and fruits are tokens of hospitality and are meant to be eaten. A good friend is hard to find. Don't complain—and don't put out any more than you want to disappear.

DEAR ABBY: I have been wondering what is wrong with my 16-year-old daughter's behavior. She messes with everything she can get her hands on. At the table she pours the salt, pepper and sugar on the table and mixes it all together and makes "designs". She pinches flowers (wax and real) and bends wire hangers out of shape. When she's talking on the phone she writes all over everything and scratches the paint off the wall. She seems to do all this unconsciously—not maliciously. I have watched her in amazement. She wasn't as destructive at the age of 3 as she is now.

She is very pretty and popular and makes A's and B's at school. I can't understand this streak in her. Have you heard of cases like this, Abby?

JUST WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Yes, frequently. It's nothing to be alarmed about. She'll probably pass through this stage quickly.

"What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Nancy Ankrom Becomes Bride of Shelby Dye

MRS. SHELBY DYE

Miss Nancy Ankrom became the bride of Mr. Shelby Dye at 2:30 p. m., June 12 in the First Evangelical United Brethren Church. The Rev. O. F. Gibbs performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Ankrom, 131 Hayward Ave. and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Dye, 317 S. Washington St.

The church was decorated with altar vases and baskets filled with white gladioli, white fugi mums and daisies, backed by palms and two seven branch candelabras.

Miss Lucill e Kirkwood provided a half hour of pre-nuptial music at the organ with Mrs. Frank Moore singing "I Love You Truly", "Oh, Promise Me" and "The Lords Prayer".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a gown fashioned of silk organza and designed with a scalloped basque bodice. A scooped neckline was deliberately trimmed with lace and iridescents on the bodice and long sleeves that tapered to a point over the hands. A bouffant floor length skirt of silk organza, worn over an old fashion hoop, flowed into a chapel train. The finger tip veil of imported silk illusion was caught to a crown of seed pearls and iridescents. The bride carried a white orchid atop a white Bible, a gift of the church, with lily of the valley and white satin streamers.

Mrs. William Boston served as matron of honor and the bridesmaids were; Mrs. David Bircher, Miss Sharelle Ankrom and Miss Betty Logsdon. The attendants wore ballerina length gowns of blue silk organza with a sabrina neckline, small brief sleeves and a bouffant skirt. All wore matching bandeaux. They carried cascades of white daisies, tinted blue. Flower girls were; Miss Paula Payne and Miss Debbie Prushing. They were dressed in matching dresses of blue organdy and bandeaux and carried baskets with blue mum petals.

Mr. Paul Dye, brother of the groom, served as best man. The ushers were; Mr. Gene Prushing, Mr. Lowell Rader and Mr. David Bircher. Mr. Terry Morrison served as ringbearer.

The bride's mother was attired in a pastel blue silk dress with white accessories. The groom's mother wore a blue lace dress with matching accessories. They both wore corsages of white cymbidium orchids.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the church service center. Mrs. Clifford Davis received the guests and Mrs. Lowell Rader, Mrs. James Arledge, Miss Sue Wagner, Mrs. Betty Morrison, Mrs. Marie Goodman, Mrs. Kelly Alderman and Mrs. Earl Radcliff were the hostesses.

Mrs. Dye was graduated by Circleville High School and Otterbein College. She will be teaching this fall at Scioto Trails Elementary School, Columbus.

Mr. Dye was graduated by Circleville High School and served two years with U. S. Army. He is presently employed at E. I. DuPont Co.

The couple is now residing at 215½ E. Franklin St.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Tell Him Facts of Finance

DEAR ABBY: How do you approach the subject of "money" with your husband? We have been married for over a year and I don't know how much he makes or even how much rent we pay. I never see any of the bills. He tells me not to open them. He takes all the bills and pays them. I get an allowance for spending money and it is more than enough, so I save a little. The other day he asked me to sign a paper stating he was taking out a $1,000 loan. I don't know what he needs a loan for. We are supposed to have money in the bank. When I ask questions about finances he tells me not to worry. But I worry, anyway. Don't you think a wife should know something about the financial situation in a marriage?

IN THE DARK

DEAR IN: A wife should certainly know what comes in, what goes out, and why and when. Thank your husband for wanting to spare you from the "money worries", but tell him one way to keep your marriage off the rocks is not to hide too many things under them.

DEAR ABBY: I have a neighbor who likes to run in and out of my house several times a day. She's cheerful and chatty and is the big-hearted type. She's the first one there if I need help with the housework or someone to look after my children for a few hours.

Well, I have one thing against her. She will clean out my candy dish, nut or fruit bowl and think nothing of it. Once she had the nerve to tell me what kind of candy she liked and where I could buy it.

I hate to hurt her feelings, but how can I tell her in nice way that this gets my goat?

CLEANED OUT

DEAR CLEANED: Bowls of nuts, candy and fruits are tokens of hospitality and are meant to be eaten. A good friend is hard to find. Don't complain—and don't put out any more than you want to disappear.

DEAR ABBY: I have been wondering what is wrong with my 16-year-old daughter's behavior. She messes with everything she can get her hands on. At the table she pours the salt, pepper and sugar on the table and mixes it all together and makes "designs". She pinches flowers (wax and real) and bends wire hangers out of shape. When she's talking on the phone she writes all over everything and scratches the paint off the wall. She seems to do all this unconsciously—not maliciously. I have watched her in amazement. She wasn't as destructive at the age of 3 as she is now.

She is very pretty and popular and makes A's and B's at school. I can't understand this streak in her. Have you heard of cases like this, Abby?

JUST WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Yes, frequently. It's nothing to be alarmed about. She'll probably pass through this stage quickly.

"What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

State Building Maintenance Costs Studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Maintenance of state buildings throughout Ohio will be centrally controlled to remedy generally unsatisfactory conditions, Gov. Michael V. DiSalle said today.

The governor said he will order immediate action on recommendations of Public Works Director T. J. Kauer to prevent wasteful expenditures.

"Throughout the state of Ohio the buildings occupied by the various departments and institutions are generally in unsatisfactory condition and are continuing to deteriorate even though tremendous sums of money are allocated annually for maintenance, custodial and protective service," Kauer reported.

He proposed creation of a maintenance and improvement section within the Division of State Architect and Engineer in his department. He said the division's staff will be enlarged to handle control operations.

DiSalle said maintenance personnel will remain under the present control of separate departments and institutions, but that all operations throughout the state will be coordinated.

He asserted the fixing of responsibility for repairs will come ahead of personnel changes.

The governor said figures on maintenance spending have not been compiled because appropriations were made to separate departments.

How Future Business Looks

Can U.S. Economy Expand To Provide Needed Jobs?

Editor's Note—Will the second half of 1960 provide enough jobs for the growing labor force? In this, the second in a series of three articles on the economic outlook, Sam Dawson, AP business news analyst, discusses the prospects for a pickup in industrial output, business spending for inventories and capital goods, and consumer spending for goods and services that could mean more jobs.

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Jobs for a growing population will be a prime problem the rest of this year. It's the human side to the economic query: Will industry and trade turn smartly upward again after Labor Day?

Moderate gains are expected. It seems unlikely they'll be enough to solve the jobless problem.

Total employment has been rising. But the number out of work sticks stubbornly around 5 per cent of the labor force. Right now the number looking for jobs is rising because of the influx of graduates and students into the market.

But the longer-term problem is two-pronged: The number of Americans of working age is on the rise, while the number required to turn out a given supply of goods keeps dropping because of mechanization and automation and increased skills.

Wage scales continue to rise this year, but the rate of increase is lower than in the recent past. Also, many workers find paychecks smaller because of shorter work weeks in some industries.

What help for more jobs is in sight from a business pickup?

Industrial output was at a record high in January. Then it dipped, but made a slight recovery in May.

The immediate outlook is for little change—the usual summer lull, an average fall quickening. Steel production seems sure to go lower before its hoped-for late summer recovery. Some appliance makers are cutting back to bring stocks in line with sales. Auto production will soon be dropping as the model changeover time nears.

The Gross National Product, which takes in all production of goods and services, has topped 500 billion dollars at an annual rate for the first time. But the rate of its growth has slowed. Two of its greatest bulwarks also have been loisng some of their forward zing—consumer spending and business outlay for plant and equipment. A number of industries are still catching up with capacity already built higher than current demand.

Business has been getting some forward push in this year's growth in the dollar volume of exports, while the increase in imports has slowed.

And through all the surmises about business trends run the threads of election year turmoil and the still uncertain effects of cold war flareups on our defense spending and on our private planning.

The best guess: Times will be good this fall, but not booming, and jobs enough for all will still be a problem.

Friday: Whither prices? Will the consumer go on shelling out his dough or call a halt?

Man Sits on Railroad Track, Is Killed

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Wade Still, 37, was killed by a Pennsylvania Railroad freight train Wednesday night after seating himself on the tracks. Said Engineer F. C. Phillips of Cincinnati: "I blew the whistle but he just placed his head in his hands and sat there."

Capital Spending Due To Continue

NEW YORK (AP) — Iron Age Magazine today predicted a continuing high rate of capital spending through the second half of 1960.

Its prediction was based upon spending trends in the metalworking industry derived from a survey conducted for the magazine by the National Industrial Conference Board.

A breakdown of major industry groups within metalworking showed these industries had stepped up their spending plans over the first quarter of 1959:

Fabricated metals, 19 per cent; nonelectrical machinery, 3 per cent; electrical machinery, 41 per cent; transportation equipment, 17 per cent; and instruments, 6 per cent.

Japanese Toy Makers See Orders Canceled

TOKYO (AP)—Worried over reports of a campaign against Japanese goods in the United States, Japanese toy makers messaged President Eisenhower today that most Japanese are pro-American.

The assurance was contained in a letter sent by the Federation of Export Toy Manufacturers Cooperative in Tokyo through the U.S. embassy here, a federation spokesman said.

Various American companies were reported cancelling orders for Japanese goods because of the recent riots in Tokyo.

How Future Business Looks

Can U.S. Economy Expand To Provide Needed Jobs?

Editor's Note—Will the second half of 1960 provide enough jobs for the growing labor force? In this, the second in a series of three articles on the economic outlook, Sam Dawson, AP business news analyst, discusses the prospects for a pickup in industrial output, business spending for inventories and capital goods, and consumer spending for goods and services that could mean more jobs.

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Jobs for a growing population will be a prime problem the rest of this year. It's the human side to the economic query: Will industry and trade turn smartly upward again after Labor Day?

Moderate gains are expected. It seems unlikely they'll be enough to solve the jobless problem.

Total employment has been rising. But the number out of work sticks stubbornly around 5 per cent of the labor force. Right now the number looking for jobs is rising because of the influx of graduates and students into the market.

But the longer-term problem is two-pronged: The number of Americans of working age is on the rise, while the number required to turn out a given supply of goods keeps dropping because of mechanization and automation and increased skills.

Wage scales continue to rise this year, but the rate of increase is lower than in the recent past. Also, many workers find paychecks smaller because of shorter work weeks in some industries.

What help for more jobs is in sight from a business pickup?

Industrial output was at a record high in January. Then it dipped, but made a slight recovery in May.

The immediate outlook is for little change—the usual summer lull, an average fall quickening. Steel production seems sure to go lower before its hoped-for late summer recovery. Some appliance makers are cutting back to bring stocks in line with sales. Auto production will soon be dropping as the model changeover time nears.

The Gross National Product, which takes in all production of goods and services, has topped 500 billion dollars at an annual rate for the first time. But the rate of its growth has slowed. Two of its greatest bulwarks also have been loisng some of their forward zing—consumer spending and business outlay for plant and equipment. A number of industries are still catching up with capacity already built higher than current demand.

Business has been getting some forward push in this year's growth in the dollar volume of exports, while the increase in imports has slowed.

And through all the surmises about business trends run the threads of election year turmoil and the still uncertain effects of cold war flareups on our defense spending and on our private planning.

The best guess: Times will be good this fall, but not booming, and jobs enough for all will still be a problem.

Friday: Whither prices? Will the consumer go on shelling out his dough or call a halt?

Man Sits on Railroad Track, Is Killed

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Wade Still, 37, was killed by a Pennsylvania Railroad freight train Wednesday night after seating himself on the tracks. Said Engineer F. C. Phillips of Cincinnati: "I blew the whistle but he just placed his head in his hands and sat there."

Capital Spending Due To Continue

NEW YORK (AP) — Iron Age Magazine today predicted a continuing high rate of capital spending through the second half of 1960.

Its prediction was based upon spending trends in the metalworking industry derived from a survey conducted for the magazine by the National Industrial Conference Board.

A breakdown of major industry groups within metalworking showed these industries had stepped up their spending plans over the first quarter of 1959:

Fabricated metals, 19 per cent; nonelectrical machinery, 3 per cent; electrical machinery, 41 per cent; transportation equipment, 17 per cent; and instruments, 6 per cent.

Japanese Toy Makers See Orders Canceled

TOKYO (AP)—Worried over reports of a campaign against Japanese goods in the United States, Japanese toy makers messaged President Eisenhower today that most Japanese are pro-American.

The assurance was contained in a letter sent by the Federation of Export Toy Manufacturers Cooperative in Tokyo through the U.S. embassy here, a federation spokesman said.

Various American companies were reported cancelling orders for Japanese goods because of the recent riots in Tokyo.

brand new high school to boot", he stated.

TV board President Harold Hines said the district's college material potential was cut one-third last year because of poor educational facilities. He said many of the district's student didn't feel equal to the college challenge because of the present inadequate program.

Only six TV pupils attended college last year, one official said. But one citizen attending asked, "Should we re-vamp our entire school system at an added tax load so that six youths can attend college?"

The residents felt that the present district educational setup is adequate and a high school degree is all that is necessary to make his way in life.

In answer, another citizen said a degree may be adequate here, but just how many students would make their living here. He stated that jobs are getting more difficult every day and some college education is required in most promising positions.

* * *

HINES also brought out the fact that TV high school dropouts are twice the state average. He said district residents are going to pay additional taxes for the education of the ever increasing district pupil population one way or another.

"We either build a new high school to handle their education properly or rent space and make do with what we have until the state cancels out our charter," a board member said.

The actual cost of the school building is $1,500,000. The additional $400,000 is for purchase of land, equipment, landscaping and educational facilities. Gregg said the TV student population is increasing on an average of 150 pupils per year.

"Why doesn't the state furnish plans and architects for the construction of our high school instead of forcing usto pay $85,000 to high priced private architects," was another question put forward.

Hines and several others agreed that if the state established another department to handle this work, the taxpayers would end up paying more somewhere along the line.

One member asked why the building contractor couldn't submit architectural plans. He was informed that the state Industrial Commission requires all plans to be approved by a licensed architect.

* * *

ANOTHER couldn't understand why residents aren't taking advantage of the utilities which could pay 58 per cent of the cost of the bond issue, leaving 42 per cent for the property owners to pay. He said that someday the district may not be as fortunate to have high tax paying utilities.

Several members wanted to dissolve the consolidation, but were told that this would be difficult since they didn't believe the county and state boards of education would go along with that measure, regardless of the fate of the bond issue.

In an effort to slice $400,000 off the bond issue, one person said the district would end up paying $500,000 for the cut in future years. A cut of $400,000 would only reduce the bond issue a third of a mill.

One person felt that the upward re - valuation and re-appraisal of County property recently hurt the bond issue's passage as well as Governor Michael V. DiSalle's "enormous 1959 tax program".

Third and final article of this series will appear tomorrow. It will deal with the discussion of what might be cut from the proposed high school, the advantages and disadvantages and just what savings these cuts would make.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Showers and scattered thunderstorms continued over the southwest counties of the state this morning, and were expected to spread to other areas during the course of the day.

In the past 24 hours, nearly all sections of the state had at least one shower. Rainfall amounts ranged from as little as .01 inch at Youngstown to more than one inch at Cincinnati. Columbus had .7 inch.

In addition to the locally heavy rains, there was minor wind damage associated with some of the thunderstorms, including Groveport, a Columbus suburb. The Lockbourne Air Force Base reported a peak wind gust of 53 m.p.h. shortly before 3 a.m. today.

The weather map has changed very little in the last 24 hours, and with low pressure still located through the middle Mississippi Valley and central Great Plains, prospects continue favorable for more showers and thunderstorms into Friday.

Asteroids are small planets. Nearly all their orbits lie between Mars and Jupiter.

Burglary Gang Is Rounded Up After Lengthy Investigation

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Months of secret investigation by a dozen police departments has rounded up a "nationally recognized" gang specializing in burglary, Dayton police report.

Detective Lt. Richard Grundish said 10 men from Dayton, Cleveland and Columbus have been apprehended in the last few months for their part in criminal operations allegedly headed by an unnamed "mastermind" in Cleveland.

Grundish told newsmen the gang operated both in Ohio and Pennsylvania and was responsible for 21 burglaries in Cleveland alone.

The Cleveland mastermind, he said, furnished "talented specialists to criminals who needed persons trained in the techniques of safe burglary or other criminal activity."

Grundish said the gang was well organized with each member pledged to silence if arrested.

There will be no prosecutions in Dayton, he reported, because all 10 either have been convicted in other cities or counties or are awaiting trial.

The investigation was started in September 1959 by a letter to Dayton police from Sheriff Stacy Hall of Franklin County (Columbus) advising them to be on the lookout for a Columbus man believed to have been involved in safe burglaries throughout southwestern Ohio.

The man Sheriff Hall asked Dayton police to be on the lookout for was Christopher Pilkington, 37, who now is in Ohio Penitentiary for armed robbery after his conviction in Franklin County, Grundish said.

The Dayton search for Pilkington uncovered the apparent fact that he was living in Kettering with Paul Vukovic, 31. It later developed that Nelson Lyons, 34, of Dayton was a frequent companion of Vukovic. Both men now are in Ohio Penitentiary after conviction on charges of grand larceny and breaking and entering in connection with a Middletown burglary.

Grundish said three men under arrest in Cleveland have been linked with gang as well as two others from Columbus and another from Dayton.

Roast beef at prices lower—or no higher—than a year ago will be featured in many supermarkets and neighborhood groceries this weekend.

The buildup in cattle supplies to over 100 million head has made it possible to offer ribs of beef, top or bottom round roast, cross rib roast, sirloin tip roast and other red meat items at favorable prices. Ribs go for a two-year low of 55 to 63 cents a pound, depending on the cut, at one chain's New York metropolitan area stores. Top or bottom round is unchanged at 79 cents a pound at other stores.

Chuck roast, a less expensive "cousin" of the tastier roasts, is the big attraction at some stores in the East and South, while short ribs are pushed in the Midwest and rump roast in the Far West.

Fryers also get a play in some areas as prices fall 2 to 5 cents a pound from a week ago. Leg of lamb, marked down as much as 10 cents a pound, also is the "special" at some Eastern and Midwestern stores.

Egg prices firmed a penny or two higher in some sections, but producers fret over slipping consumption.

Fresh produce supplies continue to swell seasonally with new arrivals this week including South Carolina and Texas tomatoes, Pennsylvania beans, cucumbers from the Delaware-Maryland-Virginia area, strawberries from Connecticut and western New York and New Jersey applies, cucumbers, celery, raspberries and blackberries.

Best buys among vegetables are beans, cabbage, cucumbers, eggplant, nearby lettuce, parsley, onions, new potatoes, yellow or green squash, radishes and spinach. You can get good buys, too, in beets, carrots, Florida pascal celery, broccoli, corn, western lettuce, peas, peppers, green onions, endive, escarole and watercress. Okra, sweet potatoes and tomatoes are fairly expensive.

Lemons, limes, peaches and watermelons are rated the best buys among fruits. Apricots are outstanding, too. Blueberries made to on the good buy list this week after dropping sharply in price. Other good buys are cantaloups, honeydews, mangoes, California's valencia oranges, strawberries and plums. Cherries and nectarines are fairly expensive.

Film Producer Is Pleased About Making Christ Story

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Why does George Stevens choose to shoot "The Greatest Story Ever Told" here when others are making epics all over the map?

The question was put to the ace producer-director on his return from the Holy Land. The trip confirmed his plans to spend 10 millions of 20th Century-Fox's money in filming the Christ story here.

"One of the great powers of the movie medium is its ability to use landscapes dramatically," Stevens explained. "I want to do that with this story. In researching the art about the Christian era, I discover that we get most of our conceptions of how things looked from the great Renaissance painters. They painted not how Jerusalem looked, but how they conceived of it in Rome, Florence, Venice and Amsterdam.

"I want to achieve that romantic conception. I also want to approximate how the Holy Land looked centuries ago. It was an era of great physical upheaval and of contrasts. Today, it looks nothing like what it did. The centuries of human erosion have smoothed out the land.

"Our own western United States has had the same kind of recent physical upheaval. I can find everything I need here. The Salton Sea is similar to the Dead Sea; Death Valley — the Jordan Valley. I can use the great red rock canyons of Utah, the contrasts of Jackson Hole, Wyo., the sequoias of California. These are things I can get nowhere else.

"Spain? There isn't enough contrast there. I would have to go from Spain to Ceylon to get the different landscapes I want."

This brought up a touchy point. A film company with MGM backing is now shooting "The King of Kings" in Spain. How does Stevens feel about being beaten to the box office with another Christ biography?

"I'm always concerned with competition," he replied, "but I'm not really worried. The Christ story is so great and colored by the imaginations of everyone that there is room for many interpretations of it."

brand new high school to boot", he stated.

TV board President Harold Hines said the district's college material potential was cut one-third last year because of poor educational facilities. He said many of the district's student didn't feel equal to the college challenge because of the present inadequate program.

Only six TV pupils attended college last year, one official said. But one citizen attending asked, "Should we re-vamp our entire school system at an added tax load so that six youths can attend college?"

The residents felt that the present district educational setup is adequate and a high school degree is all that is necessary to make his way in life.

In answer, another citizen said a degree may be adequate here, but just how many students would make their living here. He stated that jobs are getting more difficult every day and some college education is required in most promising positions.

* * *

HINES also brought out the fact that TV high school dropouts are twice the state average. He said district residents are going to pay additional taxes for the education of the ever increasing district pupil population one way or another.

"We either build a new high school to handle their education properly or rent space and make do with what we have until the state cancels out our charter," a board member said.

The actual cost of the school building is $1,500,000. The additional $400,000 is for purchase of land, equipment, landscaping and educational facilities. Gregg said the TV student population is increasing on an average of 150 pupils per year.

"Why doesn't the state furnish plans and architects for the construction of our high school instead of forcing usto pay $85,000 to high priced private architects," was another question put forward.

Hines and several others agreed that if the state established another department to handle this work, the taxpayers would end up paying more somewhere along the line.

One member asked why the building contractor couldn't submit architectural plans. He was informed that the state Industrial Commission requires all plans to be approved by a licensed architect.

* * *

ANOTHER couldn't understand why residents aren't taking advantage of the utilities which could pay 58 per cent of the cost of the bond issue, leaving 42 per cent for the property owners to pay. He said that someday the district may not be as fortunate to have high tax paying utilities.

Several members wanted to dissolve the consolidation, but were told that this would be difficult since they didn't believe the county and state boards of education would go along with that measure, regardless of the fate of the bond issue.

In an effort to slice $400,000 off the bond issue, one person said the district would end up paying $500,000 for the cut in future years. A cut of $400,000 would only reduce the bond issue a third of a mill.

One person felt that the upward re - valuation and re-appraisal of County property recently hurt the bond issue's passage as well as Governor Michael V. DiSalle's "enormous 1959 tax program".

Third and final article of this series will appear tomorrow. It will deal with the discussion of what might be cut from the proposed high school, the advantages and disadvantages and just what savings these cuts would make.

N-S Freeway Sections Due For Opening

CLEVELAND (AP) — If the weatherman cooperates, the Ohio Highway Department hopes to open additional sections of Ohio 1, the North-South Freeway, on June 30.

If all goes well with construction work, motorists on that date can drive onto the new Ohio 44 south of Painesville and zip some 45 miles to the Pennsylvania border at a legal speed of 65 m.p.h.

And they can keep right on with smooth sailing along the new Erie Throughway to U.S. 19 south of Erie, Pa.

William B. Henry, division engineer here for Ohio's Highway Department, said Tuesday that some contractors are working a 20-hour day to put the finishing touches to the throughway between Ohio 44 and Ohio 528 in Madison Twp., Lake County. The section from Madison east to Conneaut has been open since last winter.

June 30 also is the target date for opening nearly 30 additional miles of Ohio 1 between Worthington, north of Columbus, and Ohio 18, east of Medina.

The Freeway then will be complete — except for a stretch of about eight miles between U.S. 36, east of Delaware, to Ohio 61 near Marengo in Morrow County. By August, the missing link is expected to be finished and motorists then can take an uninterrupted trip from Worthington to Medina.

Knoxville, Tenn., was named for Gen. Henry Knox, U. S. Secretary of War in 1791.

Blue Cross Rate Hearing Booked in Cincinnati

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A public hearing has been scheduled in Cincinnati on July 11 or after on a proposed 28 per cent increase in Blue Cross hospital rates for 15 counties in southwestern Ohio. State Insurance Supt. Edward A. Stowell estimated the increase, if approved, would boost payments in the area—which includes Cincinnati and Dayton—by more than 10 million dollars annually. Stowell says he wants to determine whether the increases asked by Hospital Care Corp. are in excess of the general rise in living costs.

Boy with Phenomenal Grade Due To Study Engineering

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—"Most unusual" is Maxim G. Smith, 18, according to Lorain High School guidance counselors.

For two years in a row Smith scored a phenomenal 800—the highest score possible—in the mathematics and physics portions of the college entrance board examinations.

This fall he will enter Massachusetts Institute of Technology on a scholarship awarded him by the institute, to study electrical engineering. He will also be assisted by a $3,000 scholarship, $750 each year for four years, awarded him by the United Steelworkers District 28.

Smith, who says he reads very little because he doesn't have time, took the examination in December 1958 when he was a junior in high school, and again last December when he was a senior.

Both times he scored 800 in mathematics in the aptitude portion of the test, another 800 in physics in the achievement portion and a third 800 in advanced mathematics achievement.

He took the test as a junior for experience to see what the test was like, he said, adding that "everybody should take that test when they're in the ninth grade." Taking the test earlier than in the senior year, he said, students would learn in what areas they are weak, and could work to improve themselves so that by the time they were seniors, they would be better prepared.

While there are others in the country who have made the score of 800 in the college entrance board exams, it is not common, according to H. C. Jones, boys' guidance counselor at the high school. "I'm sorry I do not have the figures, but this is not a one-in-a-thousand incident," he explained. "It is more like one-in-ten-thousand or better. Max never misses a question in any physics exam he takes."

Jones explained further that in the Ohio General Scholarship Test for seniors this year, Smith answered correctly all 60 of the math questions. Only one other boy in the state had the same record.

"Max is self-taught in calculus and analytical geometry, and I don't know how much physics he has taken beyond the high school level," Jones added.

The grandson of Mrs. Josephine Smith, with whom he has lived most of his life, Smith also studies the violin and has served as concert-master of the high school orchestra. He will continue his music more or less as a hobby.

Ex-Loan Office Manager Convicted of Forgery

CLEVELAND (AP) — Jack C. Davis, 33, former loan office manager who masterminded a check-forging scheme totaling an estimated $30,000, was convicted on eight separate charges by a common pleas jury Wednesday. He faces possible 1-20 year sentences on each count.

Davis, member of a well-to-do Akron family, managed offices of the Standard Loan & Finance Co. here. According to testimony, he issued checks to appliance store customers and set up false accounts. The signatures on the checks, never received by customers, were forged by Davis and another man, evidence showed.

Nuclear Engines In Space Hailed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The nuclear engine will dominate space propulsion, a Westinghouse Electric Corp. atomic power expert says.

Space exploration seems too remote for the true significance of nuclear rockets to be accepted, said John W. Simpson.

"But space exploration is going to take place and the work is going to beat a path to the more efficient engine," he told the Institute of Nuclear Materials Management. Simpson is general manager of Westinghouse's Atomic Power Division.

"The ultimate nuclear engine should open outer space to exploration on a scale we hardly envisage today, such as nuclear power has opened up the areas under the seas to almost any travel men might choose," he said.

N-S Freeway Sections Due For Opening

CLEVELAND (AP) — If the weatherman cooperates, the Ohio Highway Department hopes to open additional sections of Ohio 1, the North-South Freeway, on June 30.

If all goes well with construction work, motorists on that date can drive onto the new Ohio 44 south of Painesville and zip some 45 miles to the Pennsylvania border at a legal speed of 65 m.p.h.

And they can keep right on with smooth sailing along the new Erie Throughway to U.S. 19 south of Erie, Pa.

William B. Henry, division engineer here for Ohio's Highway Department, said Tuesday that some contractors are working a 20-hour day to put the finishing touches to the throughway between Ohio 44 and Ohio 528 in Madison Twp., Lake County. The section from Madison east to Conneaut has been open since last winter.

June 30 also is the target date for opening nearly 30 additional miles of Ohio 1 between Worthington, north of Columbus, and Ohio 18, east of Medina.

The Freeway then will be complete — except for a stretch of about eight miles between U.S. 36, east of Delaware, to Ohio 61 near Marengo in Morrow County. By August, the missing link is expected to be finished and motorists then can take an uninterrupted trip from Worthington to Medina.

Entire Pirate Team on Fire In Flag Race

Pittsburgh Protects NL Lead as Friend Hurls 5-0 Shutout

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Who's getting the job done for the Pittsburgh Pirates in that National League race? Forget it. The question is "who ain't?"

They have the majors' top winner, Vern Law (11-2); Handyman Elroy Face and comeback guy Bob Friend on the pitching staff. And they have four of the top 10 hitters in the league plus the No. 2 man in RBI, Roberto Clemente, with 49.

Friend scattered eight hits and took the major league lead in shutouts with his fourth in a 5-0 victory over St. Louis Wednesday night. The Bucs had 11 hits—with Dick Groat (4-for-5) gaining the NL bat lead at .351. Clemente (.328) doubling home two runs, and Bob Skinner (.323) bringing the clincher across with a first-inning single.

It was Pittsburgh's seventh victory in eight games protecting a 3½-game bulge over second place Milwaukee. The come-alive Braves made it five in a row with a 7-4 victory over third place San Francisco's fast skidding Giants.

Philadelphia defeated the Chicago Cubs 6-3, after filing away a 7-6 decision in the completion of Tuesday's suspended game. Los Angeles and Cincinnati were rained out.

Friend gave up only one extra-base hit—Daryl Spencer's second-inning double—and didn't walk a man while winning his third in a row for a 9-3 record.

The Cards' Larry Jackson (9-7) lost his second in a row—both 5-0 decisions — after winning eight straight.

Milwaukee made it eight out of nine as Billy Bruton, who tagged an inside-the-park homer, Joe Adcock and Johnny Logan each drove in two runs. The Braves had 13 hits off three pitchers while sending Johnny Antonelli (3-5) to his fifth loss in a row.

Lew Burdette (8-2) needed Don McMahon's help when the Giants scored three in the eighth with two out, but won his fifth straight.

The Phils 2 on th e regularly scheduled game in a four-run fifth capped by rookie Tony Curry's one-on homer. Rookie Tony Gonzalez also homered.

Johnny Buzhardt (3-4) and the Phils had Tuesday's game won before the curfew sounded after eight frames. The Cubs added a ninth-inning run against Robin Roberts Wednesday night. Joe Schaffernoth (0-2) lost it.

Whoever started that talk about Early Wynn calling it quits should have started it sooner. That's all it took for the angry righthander to show there's life in the old guy yet, after losing five in a row..

Wynn, last season's pitcher of the year as a 22-game winner for Chicago's American League champion White Sox, bounced back with the 13th two-hitter of his 20-year career for a 3-1 victory over Baltimore Wednesday night. It was the 40-year-old veteran's 274th victory, tops among active pitchers.

While the White Sox were making it two in a row over the second place Orioles, the first place New York Yankees skipped into a 1½ game lead by whipping Detroit 7-3 for their sixth straight victory.

Cleveland beat Washington 1-0 as Ted Bowsfield gained his first major league shutout with a five-hitter. Kansas City got past Boston 2-1.

BASHING WAY WITH BUCCOS—Hitting (the .300 variety) of four regulars on the Pittsburgh roster has elevated the Buccos into first place in the National league and Pirate rooters are hoping this may be their big year. Bowsfield's 5-Hitter Aids Indian Cause

CLEVELAND (AP)—A year ago the Cleveland Indians gambled on Jack Harshman, a left-hander nobody wanted. He almost pitched the Tribe to the pennant with five victories and only one loss in the final two months of the season.

A week ago the Indians acquired another southpaw from the Boston Red Sox, Ted Bowsfield. So far he's been a gem with a 2-0 record.

Wednesday night the 24-year-old Canadian hurled a neat five-hit shutout as Cleveland nipped the Washington Senators 1-0 on Harvey Kuenn's firs inning single following a triple by Jimmy Piersall.

Bowsfield had to hurl a shutout because his mound opponent, Bill Fischer, was almost matching him pitch for pitch. Fischer (2-3), a shutout loser to the Indians for the second time this season, also gave up only five safeties.

Kuenn seems to have regained the batting form that made him the league batting champ in 1959. He stroked two singles to raise his mark to .298. But Vic Power continued his slump at the plate. Power now has gone hitless in 24 official times at bat and has only one single to show for his last 34 plate appearances.

"I hope Power starts hitting before the Yankees get here," said Manager Joe Gordon. "We sure could use his bat in that series. He's a big man."

Following today's windup game against the Senators—Barry Latman (1-1) vs Washington's Chuck Stobbs (3-2)—the Yankees come in for a four-game set starting Friday night.

Jim Perry will face the Yankees in that key game and Bowsfield is slated to pitch against the league-leaders in one of Sunday's doubleheader contests.

In 1958 with the Red Sox Bowsfield beat the Yanks three straight times. "As a matter of fact I'd just as soon people forgot about those 1958 victories against the Yankees," Bowsfield said. "Lately I haven't done too well against New York." This was Bowsfield's first complete game since Sept. 1, 1958.

Merrie Chester won by a nose with a time of 2:06 2-5 in the $1,000 Class B trot. The winner paid $16.00.

Banks in Line For HR Mark

Cubs' Slugger Hopes For at Least 56

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Ernie Banks isn't taking any predictions but right now it appears he's got the best chance of breaking Hack Wilson's National League mark of 56 home runs in a single season. And the Chicago Cubs' shortstop is in a good position to challenge Babe Ruth's all-time record of 60.

Banks clubbed numbers 19 and 20 Tuesday night in a 7-6 loss to Philadelphia to put him ahead of the pace Wilson set in 1930 with the Cubs. That season Wilson belted No. 20 in the 59th game. Banks did it in the 55th game.

Banks, however, trials Ruth's record-setting pace of 1927 by three games not counting the second game of Tuesday night's twi-night doubleheader which was suspended by National League curfew after eight innings with the Phillies leading 7-5.

Ruth hit his 19th and 20th homers in the 52nd game that year.

Ten of Banks' homers have come this June, his largest output in a single month in his seven years in the majors.

He explained this by saying that his timing is coming around much better.

"And I'm swinging at better balls than I did the first part of the year," he added. "I'm realxing, just trying to meet the ball and get a base hit. When I try to hit it out of the park I sometimes take my eye off the ball and do a lot of things wrong."

The National League's most valuable player two years running (1958-59), Banks politely shrugs off questions about breaking records.

"You've got to be lucky," he says. "You've got to hit a lot of homers in August and September. But I think someday Ruth's record will be broken."

The 29-year-old infielder leads both leagues in homers and runs batted in, 58.

Jets, Toronto Rained Out

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Richmond Vees seem to be riding one of those winning streaks where nothing can go wrong.

Behind 2-0 early in the game, the Vees came charging back to take their sixth straight, 6-4 over Montreal, and further entrench themselves in the International League's first division nine games behind league - leading Toronto, rained out at Columbus Wednesday night.

Manassa Mauler, Near 65, Still Looks Like Champion

NEW YORK (AP)—The grandmother advanced hesitantly toward the table, leading a 10-year-old boy by the hand.

"Mr. Dempsey," she asked timorously, "could I . . . could we . . . have your autograph? I've watched your career for years."

Jack Dempsey gave her a Clark Gable smile, shook hands with the awed youngster, and, asking the boys' name, wrote a personal message on a menu.

And you had a fleeting image of that boy 60 years hence proudly telling his grandchildren how he shook the hand of the great Manassa Mauler, the man who became a legend in his lifetime.

He'll be 65 years old Friday, will this man who to millions still is "the champ," although it's 34 long years since the crown rightfully was his and a dozen champions of the heavyweight division have come and gone.

He still looks the part. Straight as a pencil, he appears taller than his 6 feet and one inch. A diet ordered by his doctor to reduce high cholesterol, or what he terms "thick blood," has whittled off 30 pounds and left him a svelte 200.

He spends much time now at his Broadway restaurant, where he is besieged by hero worshippers of all ages, from all walks of life, from crossroad villages and distant cities.

Dempsey has eased up on his living pace. At 65, he feels it is time to take it a little easier. So there is no more galloping across the country refereeing wrestling matches or fights, although he'd still do it for charity.

"I feel pretty good, pretty good," he said, chewing on one of the long cigars he consumes at the rate of 10 a day.

"Life has been good to me, and I am very grateful. I have five fine grandchildren, all girls—Barbara has three and Joan, the older of my daughters, two. I have business interests, including a radio and television school in Chicago with an enrollment of 2,600 and 20,000 taking correspondence courses."

One of his cherished goals is to see boxing cleaned up and accepted as a good, wholesome sport.

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—D. Barry Apgear of Chillicothe recently caught a fish that may be a record catch of the species in Ohio.

But Apgear, who is assistant fish management supervisor of Ohio Wildlife District Five, may have difficulty proving his catch.

The fish — a two-pound black crappie——tops by three ounces a record set last summer. Apgear submitted all the necessary information and statements of witnesses to the Ohio Record Fish Committee in Dayton.

But when the committee asked him to submit a photograph he ran into trouble—he had already cleaned the fish.

The requested evidence, however, is on its way to the committee—a photograph of two fine crappie filets.

Entire Pirate Team on Fire In Flag Race

Pittsburgh Protects NL Lead as Friend Hurls 5-0 Shutout

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Who's getting the job done for the Pittsburgh Pirates in that National League race? Forget it. The question is "who ain't?"

They have the majors' top winner, Vern Law (11-2); Handyman Elroy Face and comeback guy Bob Friend on the pitching staff. And they have four of the top 10 hitters in the league plus the No. 2 man in RBI, Roberto Clemente, with 49.

Friend scattered eight hits and took the major league lead in shutouts with his fourth in a 5-0 victory over St. Louis Wednesday night. The Bucs had 11 hits—with Dick Groat (4-for-5) gaining the NL bat lead at .351; Clemente (.338) doubling home two runs, and Bob Skinner (.323) bringing the clincher across with a first-inning single.

It was Pittsburgh's seventh victory in eight games protecting a 3½-game bulge over second place Milwaukee. The come-alive Braves made it five in a row with a 7-4 victory over third place San Francisco's fast skidding Giants.

Philadelphia defeated the Chicago Cubs 6-3, after filing away a 7-6 decision in the completion of Tuesday's suspended game. Los Angeles and Cincinnati were rained out.

Friend gave up only one extra-base hit—Daryl Spencer's second-inning double—and didn't walk a man while winning his third in a row for a 9-3 record.

The Cards' Larry Jackson (9-7) lost his second in a row—both 5-0 decisions — after winning eight straight.

Milwaukee made it eight out of nine as Billy Bruton, who tagged an inside-the-park homer, Joe Adcock and Johnny Logan each drove in two runs. The Braves had 13 hits off three pitchers while sending Johnny Antonelli (3-5) to his fifth loss in a row.

Lew Burdette (8-2) needed Don McMahon's help when the Giants scored three in the eighth with two out, but won his fifth straight.

The Phils 2 on th e regularly scheduled game in a four-run fifth capped by rookie Tony Curry's one-on homer. Rookie Tony Gonzalez also homered.

Johnny Buzhardt (3-4) and the Phils had Tuesday's game won before the curfew sounded after eight frames. The Cubs added a ninth-inning run against Robin Roberts Wednesday night. Joe Schaffernoth (0-2) lost it.

Whoever started that talk about Early Wynn calling it quits should have started it sooner. That's all it took for the angry righthander to show there's life in the old guy yet, after losing five in a row..

Wynn, last season's pitcher of the year as a 22-game winner for Chicago's American League champion White Sox, bounced back with the 13th two-hitter of his 20-year career for a 3-1 victory over Baltimore Wednesday night. It was the 40-year-old veteran's 274th victory, tops among active pitchers.

While the White Sox were making it two in a row over the second place Orioles, the first place New York Yankees skipped into a 1½ game lead by whipping Detroit 7-3 for their sixth straight victory.

Cleveland beat Washington 1-0 as Ted Bowsfield gained his first major league shutout with a five-hitter. Kansas City got past Boston 2-1.

Juror Found in Prison

FREMONT, Ohio (AP)—Donald Clark of Fremont didn't show up for Sandusky County jury duty. And Clark was excused when Common Pleas Judge Robert J. Gabel learned he is a prisoner in Ohio Penitentiary at Columbus.

The University of Houston golf team has won the last four NCAA titles.

Dick Groat — Roberto Clemente — Smoky Burgess — Bob Skinner

BASHING WAY WITH BUCCOS—Hitting (the .300 variety) of four regulars on the Pittsburgh roster has elevated the Buccos into first place in the National league and Pirate rooters are hoping this may be their big year. Dick Groat, Smoky Burgess, Roberto Clemente and Bob Skinner all are over .320. (Central Press)

Bowsfield's 5-Hitter Aids Indian Cause

CLEVELAND (AP)—A year ago the Cleveland Indians gambled on Jack Harshman, a left-hander nobody wanted. He almost pitched the Tribe to the pennant with five victories and only one loss in the final two months of the season.

A week ago the Indians acquired another southpaw from the Boston Red Sox, Ted Bowsfield. So far he's been a gem with a 2-0 record.

Wednesday night the 24-year-old Canadian hurled a neat five-hit shutout as Cleveland nipped the Washington Senators 1-0 on Harvey Kuenn's firs inning single following a triple by Jimmy Piersall.

Bowsfield had to hurl a shutout because his mound opponent, Bill Fischer, was almost matching him pitch for pitch. Fischer (2-3), a shutout loser to the Indians for the second time this season; also gave up only five safeties.

Kuenn seems to have regained the batting form that made him the league batting champ in 1959. He stroked two singles to raise his mark to .298. But Vic Power continued his slump at the plate. Power now has gone hitless in 24 official times at bat and has only one single to show for his last 34 plate appearances.

"I hope Power starts hitting before the Yankees get here," said Manager Joe Gordon. "We sure could use his bat in that series. He's a big man."

Following today's windup game against the Senators—Barry Latman (1-1) vs Washington's Chuck Stobbs (3-2)—the Yankees come in for a four-game set starting Friday night.

Jim Perry will face the Yankees in that key game and Bowsfield is slated to pitch against the league-leaders in one of Sunday's double-header contests.

In 1958 with the Red Sox Bowsfield beat the Yanks three straight times. "As a matter of fact I'd just as soon people forgot about those 1958 victories against the Yankees," Bowsfield said. "Lately I haven't done too well against New York." This was Bowsfield's first complete game since Sept. 1, 1958.

Banks in Line For HR Mark

Cubs' Slugger Hopes For at Least 56

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Ernie Banks isn't taking any predictions but right now it appears he's got the best chance of breaking Hack Wilson's National League mark of 56 home runs in a single season. And the Chicago Cubs' shortstop is in a good position to challenge Babe Ruth's all-time record of 60.

Banks clubbed numbers 19 and 20 Tuesday night in a 7-6 loss to Philadelphia to put him ahead of the pace Wilson set in 1930 with the Cubs. That season Wilson belted No. 20 in the 59th game. Banks did it in the 55th game.

Banks, however, trials Ruth's record-setting pace of 1927 by three games not counting the second game of Tuesday night's twi-night doubleheader which was suspended by National League curfew after eight innings with the Phillies leading 7-5.

Ruth hit his 19th and 20th homers in the 52nd game that year.

Ten of Banks' homers have come this June, his largest output in a single month in his seven years in the majors.

He explained this by saying that his timing is coming around much better.

"And I'm swinging at better balls than I did the first part of the year," he added. "I'm realxing, just trying to meet the ball and get a base hit. When I try to hit it out of the park I sometimes take my eye off the ball and do a lot of things wrong."

The National League's most valuable player two years running (1958-59), Banks politely shrugs off questions about breaking records.

"You've got to be lucky," he says. "You've got to hit a lot of homers in August and September. But I think someday Ruth's record will be broken."

The 29-year-old infielder leads both leagues in homers and runs batted in, 58.

Jets, Toronto Rained Out

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Richmond Vees seem to be riding one of those winning streaks where nothing can go wrong.

Behind 2-0 early in the game, the Vees came charging back to take their sixth straight, 6-4 over Montreal, and further entrench themselves in the International League's first division nine games behind league - leading Toronto, rained out at Columbus Wednesday night.

Manassa Mauler, Near 65, Still Looks Like Champion

NEW YORK (AP)—The grandmother advanced hesitantly toward the table, leading a 10-year-old boy by the hand.

"Mr. Dempsey," she asked timorously, "could I . . . could we . . . have your autograph? I've watched your career for years."

Jack Dempsey gave her a Clark Gable smile, shook hands with the awed youngster, and, asking the boys' name, wrote a personal message on a menu.

And you had a fleeting image of that boy 60 years hence proudly telling his grandchildren how he shook the hand of the great Manassa Mauler, the man who became a legend in his lifetime.

He'll be 65 years old Friday, will this man who to millions still is "the champ," although it's 34 long years since the crown rightfully was his and a dozen champions of the heavyweight division have come and gone.

He still looks the part. Straight as a pencil, he appears taller than his 6 feet and one inch. A diet ordered by his doctor to reduce high cholesterol, or what he terms "thick blood," has whittled off 30 pounds and left him a svelte 200.

He spends much time now at his Broadway restaurant, where he is besieged by hero worshippers of all ages, from all walks of life, from crossroad villages and distant cities.

Dempsey has eased up on his living pace. At 65, he feels it is time to take it a little easier. So there is no more galloping across the country refereeing wrestling matches or fights, although he'd still do it for charity.

"I feel pretty good, pretty good," he said, chewing on one of the long cigars he consumes at the rate of 10 a day.

"Life has been good to me, and I am very grateful. I have five fine grandchildren, all girls—Barbara has three and Joan, the older of my daughters, two. I have business interests, including a radio and television school in Chicago with an enrollment of 2,600 and 20,000 taking correspondence courses."

One of his cherished goals is to see boxing cleaned up and accepted as a good, wholesome sport.

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—D. Barry Apgear of Chillicothe recently caught a fish that may be a record catch of the species in Ohio.

But Apgear, who is assistant fish management supervisor of Ohio Wildlife District Five, may have difficulty proving his catch.

The fish — a two-pound black crappie——tops by three ounces a record set last summer. Apgear submitted all the necessary information and statements of witnesses to the Ohio Record Fish Committee in Dayton.

But when the committee asked him to submit a photograph he ran into trouble—he had already cleaned the fish.

The requested evidence, however, is on its way to the committee—a photograph of two fine crappie filets.

Reeser Hurls DuPont to Win

Right-Hander Stops C of C on 3 Hits

George Reeser last night tossed a neat three-hit shutout at Chamber of Commerce as DuPont reeled off its fourth victory against one defeat.

The DuPonters tallied their three runs in the initial inning. Chester Iery started the action when he walked and advanced on Arnie Gabriel's single.

Dick Kline loaded the bases when he walked. Iery and Gabriel chalked up two markers on Gary Lagore's single and Eddie Evans drove in the third run with the first of his two doubles, the only extra base hits of the well pitched contest.

Reeser went the route, fanning nine and walking four. Jeff Lutz started for C of C, whiffing three and issuing four free passes before he was relieved in the fifth inning by Larry Smith.

• • •

THE LANKY Smith walked three and struck out seven. DuPont committed two errors compared to Chamber's one miscue. The victory sent DuPont into second place in the local Babe Ruth League while Chamber of Commerce dropped to fourth with a 3-3 slate.

Babe Ruth action today pits Ashville (3-2) against General Electric (4-1) at 5:15 p. m. on the softball diamond. The Broncos are the only team to stop the league leader to date.

Kiwanis (3-2) travels to Derby (0-5) for its first away contest of the season.

Tom Jones Wins Pre-Senior Match

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Tom Jones Jr. of Youngstown, one of the state's leading amateur golfers for 15 years, won the fifth annual Ohio Pre-Seniors Golf Tournament Wednesday.

Winner of the 1951 Ohio Amateur, Jones came in with a 36-hole total of 144, four over par at Madison Country Club. He fired a 71 on the final 18 holes to go with his 73 Tuesday.

Jaycees Top Blue Ribbon; 1st Nat'l Wins

The Jaycees maintained their commanding margin in the Little League minors with a 28-11 win over Blue Ribbon Dairy last night and First National Bank topped Second National Bank, 23-13.

Both tilts were interrupted by showers and were played under a constant drizzle, but lived up to the LL's motto, "Games will be played under all conditions short of a cloudburst or tornado".

The younger and smaller Dairymen were no match for Bill Ankrom's loaded JC's. They banged out 24 hits, nine for extra bases, as Sark was credited with the win.

Sark started and allowed Blue Ribbon nine first inning runs. But Ankrom's militia came back with 14 in the bottom half of the inning, four in the second, six in the third, three in the fourth and one in the fifth.

• • •

MIKE MELSON relieved Sark in the second and went the distance. Sark walked nine and struck out one. Melson issued six free passes and struck out three.

Jaycee extra base blows included doubles by Chuck Plum, Tom Fletcher, Melson, Bruce Weethee and Gary Black. Triples were smashed by Fletcher, John Wright, Tom Tootle and G. Black.

Crabtree had a two-bagger for Blue Ribbon and James Morehead hit a triple. The losing hurler was Dan Darst. He walked four and whiffed one before relieved by Stanley Bogue in the first stanza.

Bogue walked two and struck out six. The Jaycees committed four errors compared to Blue Ribbon's two.

First National won its first game of the year after five straight defeats. The Bankers trailed after the initial inning, 3-6, but rallied in the second for a 9-8 lead and continued to mount the score.

David Elick gained his first victory, walking nine and fanning six. John Barnes absorbed the loss. He and reliever, Lawson, walked eight and fanned two.

Leading First National hitters were Mike Elick, Bruce Pontius, Clifton and Lloyd Crosby with a double apiece. Mike Locke had two doubles along with Dave Elick, who also had a triple.

Roy Sark connected for a Second National Two-bagger. Robert Pritchard poled a triple and Jim Lowery powered a home run. Second National miscued 10 times to First National's six.

Little League games at 5:15 p. m. today pit Circleville Oil (4-1) against Third National Bank on the Southend Playground and Rotary (0-5) battles Ward's Market (4-1) on the LL diamond.

Four games are on tap tomorrow. At 5:15 p. m. the Jaycees meet Lincoln Plastic (3-2) on the Southend Playground; Savings Bank (3-2) faces Blue Ribbon on the LL diamond, and Ralston Purina (2-3) goes against the Herald (0-5) on the softball diamond.

In a battle for first place in the LL majors, the Elks (4-1) take on Coca Cola (4-1) at 7:30 p. m. on the softball diamond under the lights.

Nicklaus Play Runs Hot, Cold

Ohioan Set for Duel Against Stanford Ace

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Favorite Jack Nicklaus, blazing hot and frosty cold in two match play victories Wednesday, plays Stanford's Steve Smith in the third round today of the NCAA golf championship.

Richard Crawford of Houston, the defending titleholder who conquered medalist Gene Francis of Purdue Wednesday, meets Labron Harris Jr. of Oklahoma State.

The morning 18-hole round today over the 7,035-yard par 36-35—71 Broadmoor course cuts the field for the 18-hole quarterfinals later today. The semifinalists play 36 holes Friday and the championship match is over the 36-hole route Saturday.

Nicklaus of Ohio State, the National Amateur champion and runnerup last week in the U. S. Open, scorched the course with six birdies in 12 holes Wednesday morning to oust Al Yancey of Army 8 and 6.

After lunch, Nicklaus ran into trouble against Frank James of Iowa who carried the Ohioan to the 19th hole before losing. Nicklaus held a 2-up lead in the early going but James went 1 up on No. 9 where Nicklaus took a 7 after driving into the rough and hitting his second shot into bushes. Nicklaus squared the match with a par 4 on the 479-yard 15th hole where James landed in sand.

They halved the rest of the way until 19 where Nicklaus reached the green of the 381-yard hole with his second shot and dropped an 8 foot putt for a birdie 3. James overshot the green for bogey.

Ohio University's two match play representatives both lost in the first round. Larry Snyder was eliminated by Alva McCoy Jones, Texas A & M, 3 and 2, while Ed Gordon bowed to Eugene Hansen, Minnesota, 7 and 6.

Red-Dodger Game Shelved By Weather

CINCINNATI (AP)—The weatherman "won" Wednesday night's scheduled game between Cincinnati's Reds and Los Angeles' Dodgers when, after waiting a series of splashing rainstorms, General Manager Gabe Paul said "we'll play it in August."

The Dodgers are due here Aug. 11 on their next eastern swing.

The postponement did nothing to raise Dodger spirits, still smarting under a stern bit of plain talk administered by Walter Alston Tuesday night after a series of miscues that cost them a 6-4 defeat in the three-game series opener.

Asked about a story by a Los Angeles scribe who reportedly quoted Alston as saying "I raised hell," the reticent Alston observed that "there are different ways of saying it. We've made a lot of bad mistakes but not as many as Tuesday night."

The postponement disappointed Reds' Manager Freddie Hutchinson, too. With Frank Robinson sidelined by a jammed ankle, Hutchinson had his lineup packed with left-handed hitters to go against Stan Williams. Williams has a record of three victories in Crosley Field and hasn't been defeated; in fact, he has not lost a game away from the LA Coliseum since July 27, 1958 with a road record of 7-0.

Williams appeared as Alston's probable choice for tonight's series-closer. Jay Hook, with a 6-5 season record (1-1) against the Dodgers), will oppose him. Hook has set down 24 Angelenos on strikes in 23 1-3 innings, in three starts thus far.

LL Adopts Uniform Rule

The Circleville Little League board of directors Tuesday adopted a resolution forbidding Little or Babe Ruth League team members to wear uniforms on any other occasion except regularly scheduled games.

League officials said they want uniforms to last from three to four years, but if participants are allowed to wear them for practices and practice games, their endurance will depreciate much sooner.

They also stated that individuals were not to wear uniforms to shows, picnics or any other occasion except league activity.

League director, Carl Benhase, asked all Babe Ruth League team managers to pick up a scorebook from him before playing an away game. This is for the convenience of official scorer, James I. Smith^III, who is keeping an official tabulation on each player.

The LL still is in need of official scorers. This is an important part of the program, which creates incentive and interest in the progress of each youth and cannot be accomplished unless accurate scoring is done.

Reeser Hurls DuPont to Win

Right-Hander Stops C of C on 3 Hits

George Reeser last night tossed a neat three-hit shutout at Chamber of Commerce as DuPont reeled off its fourth victory against one defeat.

The DuPonters tallied their three runs in the initial inning. Chester Iery started the action when he walked and advanced on Arnie Gabriel's single.

Dick Kline loaded the bases when he walked. Iery and Gabriel chalked up two markers on Gary Lagore's single and Eddie Evans drove in the third run with the first of his two doubles, the only extra base hits of the well pitched contest.

Reeser went the route, fanning nine and walking four. Jeff Lutz started for C of C, whiffing three and issuing four free passes before he was relieved in the fifth inning by Larry Smith.

• • •

THE LANKY Smith walked three and struck out seven. DuPont committed two errors compared to Chamber's one miscue. The victory sent DuPont into second place in the local Babe Ruth League while Chamber of Commerce dropped to fourth with a 3-3 slate.

Babe Ruth action today pits Ashville (3-2) against General Electric (4-1) at 5:15 p. m. on the softball diamond. The Broncos are the only team to stop the league leader to date.

Kiwanis (3-2) travels to Derby (0-5) for its first away contest of the season.

Tom Jones Wins Pre-Senior Match

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Tom Jones Jr. of Youngstown, one of the state's leading amateur golfers for 15 years, won the fifth annual Ohio Pre-Seniors Golf Tournament Wednesday.

Winner of the 1951 Ohio Amateur, Jones came in with a 36-hole total of 144, four over par at Madison Country Club. He fired a 71 on the final 18 holes to go with his 73 Tuesday.

Jaycees Top Blue Ribbon; 1st Nat'l Wins

The Jaycees maintained their commanding margin in the Little League minors with a 28-11 win over Blue Ribbon Dairy last night and First National Bank topped Second National Bank, 23-13.

Both tilts were interrupted by showers and were played under a constant drizzle, but lived up to the LL's motto, "Games will be played under all conditions short of a cloudburst or tornado".

The younger and smaller Dairymen were no match for Bill Ankrom's loaded JC's. They banged out 24 hits, nine for extra bases, as Sark was credited with the win.

Sark started and allowed Blue Ribbon nine first inning runs. But Ankrom's militia came back with 14 in the bottom half of the inning, four in the second, six in the third, three in the fourth and one in the fifth.

• • •

MIKE MELSON relieved Sark in the second and went the distance. Sark walked nine and struck out one. Melson issued six free passes and struck out three.

Jaycee extra base blows included doubles by Chuck Plum, Tom Fletcher, Melson, Bruce Weethee and Gary Black. Triples were smashed by Fletcher, John Wright, Tom Tootle and G. Black.

Crabtree had a two-bagger for Blue Ribbon and James Morehead hit a triple. The losing hurler was Dan Darst. He walked four and whiffed one before relieved by Stanley Bogue in the first stanza.

Bogue walked two and struck out six. The Jaycees committed four errors compared to Blue Ribbon's two.

First National won its first game of the year after five straight defeats. The Bankers trailed after the initial inning, 3-6, but rallied in the second for a 9-8 lead and continued to mount the score.

David Elick gained his first victory, walking nine and fanning six. John Barnes absorbed the loss. He and reliever, Lawson, walked eight and fanned two.

Leading First National hitters were Mike Elick, Bruce Pontius, Clifton and Lloyd Crosby with a double apiece. Mike Locke had two doubles along with Dave Elick, who also had a triple.

Roy Sark connected for a Second National Two-bagger. Robert Pritchard poled a triple and Jim Lowery powered a home run. Second National miscued 10 times to First National's six.

Little League games at 5:15 p. m. today pit Circleville Oil (4-1) against Third National Bank on the Southend Playground and Rotary (0-5) battles Ward's Market (4-1) on the LL diamond.

Four games are on tap tomorrow. At 5:15 p. m. the Jaycees meet Lincoln Plastic (3-2) on the Southend Playground; Savings Bank (3-2) faces Blue Ribbon on the LL diamond, and Ralston Purina (2-3) goes against the Herald (0-5) on the softball diamond.

In a battle for first place in the LL majors, the Elks (4-1) take on Coca Cola (4-1) at 7:30 p. m. on the softball diamond under the lights.

After lunch, Nicklaus ran into trouble against Frank James of Iowa who carried the Ohioan to the 19th hole before losing. Nicklaus held a 2-up lead in the early going but James went 1 up on No. 9 where Nicklaus took a 7 after driving into the rough and hitting his second shot into bushes. Nicklaus squared the match with a par 4 on the 479-yard 15th hole where James landed in sand.

They halved the rest of the way until 19 where Nicklaus reached the green of the 381-yard hole with his second shot and dropped an 8 foot putt for a birdie 3. James overshot the green for bogey.

Ohio University's two match play representatives both lost in the first round. Larry Snyder was eliminated by Alva McCoy Jones, Texas A & M, 3 and 2, while Ed Gordon bowed to Eugene Hansen, Minnesota, 7 and 6.

Red-Dodger Game Shelved By Weather

CINCINNATI (AP)—The weatherman "won" Wednesday night's scheduled game between Cincinnati's Reds and Los Angeles' Dodgers when, after waiting a series of splashing rainstorms, General Manager Gabe Paul said "we'll play it in August."

The Dodgers are due here Aug. 11 on their next eastern swing.

The postponement did nothing to raise Dodger spirits, still smarting under a stern bit of plain talk administered by Walter Alston Tuesday night after a series of miscues that cost them a 6-4 defeat in the three-game series opener.

Asked about a story by a Los Angeles scribe who reportedly quoted Alston as saying "I raised hell," the reticent Alston observed that "there are different ways of saying it. We've made a lot of bad mistakes but not as many as Tuesday night."

The postponement disappointed Reds' Manager Freddie Hutchinson, too. With Frank Robinson sidelined by a jammed ankle, Hutchinson had his lineup packed with left-handed hitters to go against Stan Williams. Williams has a record of three victories in Crosley Field and hasn't been defeated; in fact, he has not lost a game away from the LA Coliseum since July 27, 1958 with a road record of 7-0.

Williams appeared as Alston's probable choice for tonight's series-closer. Jay Hook, with a 6-5 season record (1-1) against the Dodgers), will oppose him. Hook has set down 24 Angelenos on strikes in 23 1-3 innings, in three starts thus far.

LL Adopts Uniform Rule

The Circleville Little League board of directors Tuesday adopted a resolution forbidding Little or Babe Ruth League team members to wear uniforms on any other occasion except regularly scheduled games.

League officials said they want uniforms to last from three to four years, but if participants are allowed to wear them for practices and practice games, their endurance will depreciate much sooner.

They also stated that individuals were not to wear uniforms to shows, picnics or any other occasion except league activity.

League director, Carl Benhase, asked all Babe Ruth League team managers to pick up a scorebook from him before playing an away game. This is for the convenience of official scorer, James I. Smith III, who is keeping an official tabulation on each player.

The LL still is in need of official scorers. This is an important part of the program, which creates incentive and interest in the progress of each youth and cannot be accomplished unless accurate scoring is done.

West Virginia has had only two losing baseball seasons in the last 12 years under Steve Harrick. He has coached the wrestling team for 22 years.

Catholic Birth Control Report Labeled 'Alarming' by Priest

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Irving A. DeBlanc terms 'alarming" a report couples are using contraceptive birth control in about the same measure as non-Catholics."

Msgr. DeBlanc made the statement in an article written for the National Catholic Family Life Conference under way here.

The Roman Catholic Church opposes use of contraceptives.

In an interview Tuesday, the Washington, D. C., Catholic leader, said the report is based on studies which include a Catholic Digest poll.

He said the studies are individual surveys and not broad enough to be used as conclusive evidence but he termed them "alarming statements."

Msgr. DeBlanc added that the Church will never allow pressures of society to change its position against the use of contraceptives.

Msgr. DeBlanc is director of the Family Life Bureau of the National Catholic Welfare Conference.

In a forthcoming book, Msgr. DeBlanc says that if a serious overpopulation problem occurs and all other means of easing it have been tried, the Church will probably recommend either complete or periodic continence for married couples.

A Washington psychiatrist told the convention Americans over emphasize sex in marriage by "enshrouding it in mystery and secrecy."

Dr. John R. Cavanagh said it is desirable to discuss with engaged couples aspects "of the psychology of interpersonal relations rather than give them a diluted version of sex activity wit' emphasis on its mechanical aspects."

Cavanagh is a member of the advisory board of the National Catholic Welfare Conference.

The Very Rev. Msgr. George V Kelly, a Catholic leader from New York City said that neither boys nor girls get as much guidance from parents as they need before they marry.

Solar Satellite Contact Weakens

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a week, the earth may lose radio contact with Pioneer V, now orbiting around the sun more than 20 million miles away.

The huge radio telescope in Jodrell Bank, England, shot a signal at Pioneer V Tuesday, the five-watt radio in the 26-inch space probe responded instantly.

At Jodrell Bank, a spokesman said that Pioneer V's batteries were deteriorating, and the radio telescope will probably be unable to track it any longer than another week.

Its designers had not expected the space probe to send signals from more than 20 million miles out. It was launched in March.

Catholic Birth Control Report Labeled 'Alarming' by Priest

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Irving A. DeBlanc terms "alarming" a report couples are using contraceptive birth control in about the same measure as non-Catholics."

Msgr. DeBlanc made the statement in an article written for the National Catholic Family Life Conference under way here.

The Roman Catholic Church opposes use of contraceptives.

In an interview Tuesday, the Washington, D. C., Catholic leader, said the report is based on studies which include a Catholic Digest poll.

He said the studies are individual surveys and not broad enough to be used as conclusive evidence but he termed them "alarming statements."

Msgr. DeBlanc added that the Church will never allow pressures of society to change its position against the use of contraceptives.

Msgr. DeBlanc is director of the Family Life Bureau of the National Catholic Welfare Conference.

In a forthcoming book, Msgr. DeBlanc says that if a serious overpopulation problem occur and all other means of easing it have been tried, the Church will probably recommend either complete or periodic continence for married couples.

A Washington psychiatrist told the convention Americans over emphasize sex in marriage by "enshrouding it in mystery and secrecy."

Dr. John R. Cavanagh said it is desirable to discuss with engaged couples aspects "of the psychology of interpersonal relations rather than give them a diluted version of sex activity wit' emphasis on its mechanical as pects."

Cavanagh is a member of the advisory board of the National Catholic Welfare Conference.

The Very Rev. Msgr. George V Kelly, a Catholic leader from New York City said that neither boys nor girls get as much guidance from parents as they need before they marry.
